Teaching Tactics

The basic theme of the training is to teach what Jesus taught, that which took men who were fishermen, tax collectors, etc., and changed them into reproductive Christians who reached their world with the Gospel in a demonstration of power.

This manual is a single course in one of several modules of curriculum which moves believers from visualizing through deputizing, multiplying, organizing, and mobilizing to achieve the goal of evangelizing.

HARVESTIME INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE

This course is part of the Harvestime International Institute, a program designed to equip believers for effective spiritual harvest.

COURSE: Teaching Tactics

INTRODUCTION

The subject of this course is "Teaching Tactics". "Teaching" is the act of instructing another person. Biblical teaching includes imparting knowledge and demonstrating how to apply that knowledge to personal life and ministry. "Tactics" are methods used to achieve a goal, purpose, or objective. In the military, the subject of "tactics" teaches soldiers how to use their weapons to achieve an advantage over the enemy. The same is true in the spiritual world. If we apply God's methods or "tactics", we can conquer spiritual enemies which include the world, the flesh and Satan with all his powers.

In "Teaching Tactics" you will learn how to use a great spiritual weapon. That weapon is the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God (Ephesians 6:17). You will learn tactics of preaching and teaching God's Word for the purpose of defeating the enemy. This course uses God's Word, the Holy Bible, as the revelation upon which all teaching is based. In Biblical teaching the teacher, subject, and methods must all be in harmony with the Bible.

Teaching is not just the communicating of doctrine or information. Students must experience God, not just learn information about Him. Teaching is the transmission [imparting] of both a life and lifestyle. The life to be imparted to students is new life in Jesus Christ through new birth spiritually (John 3). The lifestyle to be imparted is that of the Kingdom of God. Students must be taught how to live as "citizens" in this Kingdom, learning both the privileges and responsibilities of their position.

Sometimes, we have been content to borrow man-made educational systems instead of learning and applying what God's Word reveals about teaching. This course focuses on Biblical message and methods of teaching. You will learn and apply methods of the master teacher, Jesus Christ. You will understand the functions of God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit in your teaching.

Guidelines are given for analyzing the audience, stating objectives, planning the lesson, using different teaching methods, and evaluating your teaching. The relationship between teaching and preaching is examined and guidelines are given for preaching Biblical messages. You will also learn how to train others to teach and how to adapt your teaching to illiterate people [those who cannot read or write].

If you are taking Harvestime International Institute courses in their suggested order, this is the second course of the Module entitled "Multiplying", a module which details how to multiply by sharing with others the spiritual truths you have learned. Other courses in the Module include "Biblical World View", "Multiplication Methodologies", and "Power Principles".

CHAPTER ONE

AN INTRODUCTION TO TEACHING

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Explain why we need teachers.
- Explain the difference between the leadership position of teacher and the speaking gift of teaching.

KEY VERSES:

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.”

(Matthew 28:19-20)

INTRODUCTION

Have you ever explained to another person something they did not know? Perhaps you showed them how to do a certain task? If so, you have already experienced teaching.

You may be asking yourself, "Why should I study this lesson? Why should I take a course on 'teaching tactics'?" In this chapter you will learn why each believer must know how to teach. You will learn what it means to teach, the main objectives of teaching, why teachers are needed, and who is to be taught.

You will learn the difference between the leadership position of a teacher, the gift of teaching, and the general command to all believers to teach. You will also learn the serious responsibility of teaching as you study special Biblical warnings.

THE COMMISSION TO TEACH

From the beginning of Biblical history, God commanded His people to teach His Word:

These commandments that I give you today are to be on your hearts.

Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up.
(Deuteronomy 6:6-7)

The teaching of God's Word was the responsibility of every believer in Old Testament times.

After His death and resurrection and before returning to Heaven, Jesus Christ gave His followers some important instructions:

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit,

and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.”
(Matthew 28:19-20)

Each follower of Jesus was to teach "all nations". They were to lead people to repentance and baptism in Christ and then continue to instruct them in "all things" Jesus had taught.

All those who serve the Lord are to be "apt" or "able" to teach others:

And the Lord's servant must not be quarrelsome but must be kind to everyone, able to teach, not resentful. (II Timothy 2:24)

All mature believers should be involved in teaching others. Paul corrected some believers because they were spiritually immature and could not teach:

In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! (Hebrews 5:12)

These believers had not grown spiritually so they could teach others. They were still in need of basic teaching [the milk of the Word] themselves. Every believer is to teach. This is why the subject of teaching is of concern to all Christians.

DEFINITION OF TEACHING

The word "teach" means to instruct, show, demonstrate, inform, impart knowledge, train and guide the studies of another. A "teacher" is one who teaches. "Teaching" is the act of instructing and training others.

WHY DO WE NEED TEACHERS?

Teaching and preaching by true believers are the methods God has chosen to reach the nations with the Gospel. Read the story of the Ethiopian eunuch [leader] in Acts 8:26-40. This man was at the right spiritual place. He was in Jerusalem where the great temple of worship was located (Acts 8:27). He was there for the right purpose. He had come to worship (Acts 8:27). He was reading the right book. He was reading a portion of God's Word in Isaiah 53:7 (Acts 8:30). But he still needed someone to help Him understand. He needed a teacher. God sent Philip to instruct him. The eunuch accepted the Gospel and was baptized in water.

Without teachers, unsaved people are like sheep without a shepherd. They do not understand which way to go:

When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. So he began teaching them many things. (Mark 6:34)

Even believers have problems without proper teaching. God said...

my people are destroyed from lack of knowledge.
"Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also reject you as my priests;
because you have ignored the law of your God,
I also will ignore your children. (Hosea 4:6)

THE MAIN OBJECTIVES

There are two main objectives of Biblical preaching and teaching: Evangelism and discipleship. God uses believers who are part of His Church to accomplish these objectives.

The Church is a group of people who have heard and responded to the call of God and are united by faith in Jesus Christ. It is made up of all true believers who have repented from sin and accepted Jesus as Savior.

The local Church is a group of believers who have organized in a certain area to accomplish the purposes of God in that community. Each local Church is part of what the New Testament calls the "Body of Christ". The "Body of Christ" is the Church which is composed of believers of all ages and times in all parts of the world.

The Church is called the "Body of Christ" because it is the means through which God accomplishes His purposes in the world today. Jesus is the head of the Church. Believers are His body, carrying out God's purposes in the earth.

The main purpose of God in the earth is described in the book of Ephesians:

he made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in Christ, to be put into effect when the times reach their fulfillment—to bring unity to all things in heaven and on earth under Christ. (Ephesians 1:9-10)

In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, in accordance with the riches of God's grace (Ephesians 1:7)

God's purpose is that every person be brought into a personal relationship with Himself through Jesus. His method of accomplishing this purpose is to use the Church:

His intent was that now, through the church, the manifold wisdom of God should be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly realms, according to his eternal purpose that he accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Ephesians 3:10-11)

Each believer is to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ and lead others to a right relationship with God. This is called "evangelism".

But read the key verse of this lesson again:

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit,

and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.”
(Matthew 28:19-20)

After accepting the Gospel message, new believers must be taught "all things" Jesus commanded. They must learn how to live in the new Kingdom of God of which they are now a part. This kind of teaching is called "discipleship". Evangelism and discipleship are the main objectives of Biblical teaching and preaching.

WHO DO WE TEACH?

We teach two main groups of people:

ALL NATIONS:

We must teach unbelievers. Every person in every nation is to hear the Gospel. We accomplish this through teaching and preaching God's Word:

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, (Matthew 28:19)

FAITHFUL MEN:

We are also to teach "faithful" men and women who become believers in Jesus...

and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.”
(Matthew 28:20)

These people are to continue the process by teaching others:

And the things you have heard me say in the presence of many witnesses entrust to reliable people who will also be qualified to teach others.
(II Timothy 2:2)

Each person taught is to teach others who are also able to teach. This is the pattern of continuous teaching that rapidly multiplies to spread the Gospel throughout the world:

Nevertheless, the one who receives instruction in the word should share all good things with their instructor. (Galatians 6:6)

TYPES OF TEACHERS

In the world there are many types of teachers. There are teachers in public schools at every level, from childhood through college age. For every job there are teachers who can teach others to perform that special task or service. But when we speak of teachers in this course, we are not talking about teachers in the world system of education. We are speaking of teachers God sets in the Church and of the teaching task of believers.

You have already learned that all believers are to teach others the Gospel [evangelism] and teach new believers [discipleship]. In addition to this general commission to teach, God gives some believers special gifts of teaching:

And God has placed in the church first of all apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then miracles, then gifts of healing, of helping, of guidance, and of different kinds of tongues. (I Corinthians 12:28)

So Christ himself gave the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, the pastors and teachers, (Ephesians 4:11)

There are many special abilities God gives which are called "spiritual gifts". These abilities enable believers to accomplish God's purposes in ministry. There are two spiritual gifts of teaching. There is a leadership position of teacher and a speaking gift of teaching. Those with these gifts have a special ability of communicating God's Word effectively in such a way that others learn and apply what is taught. Their teaching ability goes beyond that which every believer should have for evangelism and discipleship. They have an anointing and feel a "call" or urge to teach and preach God's Word.

God sets some of these teachers in leadership positions to guide the affairs of the church. Acts 13:1-4 illustrates the leadership position of teaching. Others are especially anointed of God to teach, but do not hold a leadership position in the Church. They only teach, they do not guide the affairs of the church.

Not everyone has the leadership position of teacher. Not everyone has the spiritual gift of teaching. Paul wrote:

Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Do all work miracles?
(I Corinthians 12:29)

The answer to these questions are "No". Not everyone has these spiritual gifts. The Body of Christ is similar to the human body. Each person has a different position just as each member of your body has a different function:

For just as each of us has one body with many members, and these members do not all have the same function, so in Christ we, though many, form one body, and each member belongs to all the others.

We have different gifts, according to the grace given to each of us. If your gift is prophesying, then prophesy in accordance with your faith;

if it is serving, then serve; if it is teaching, then teach; (Romans 12:4-7)

It is important to discover your spiritual gift because when the whole Body is working properly with each person in his place, God's purposes are accomplished:

From him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work.
(Ephesians 4:16)

But remember: Even if you do not have these special gifts of teaching, God has called ALL believers to teach the Gospel to all nations in evangelism and to train new believers in the discipleship process.

WHAT DO WE TEACH?

The Word of God is the authority on which all Biblical teaching is based. The total revelation of God's Word must be taught. When you teach God's Word you must not just teach doctrine or factual information. You must communicate a life and a lifestyle. You communicate the life of Jesus and seek to bring all men into fellowship with Him. You teach the lifestyle of the Kingdom of God of which new believers become a part. Other books and materials may be used in teaching, but they should always be in harmony with God's Word.

Later in this course you will study in more detail the content of Biblical teaching as you learn what Jesus taught and what the early Church leaders continued to teach after He returned to Heaven.

WORDS OF WARNING

There are three Biblical warnings God gives about teaching:

TEACHING MUST BE BASED ON GOD'S WORD, NOT DOCTRINES OF MEN:

They worship me in vain;
their teachings are merely human rules.' (Mark 7:7)

Teaching man's rules, commandments, and doctrines is "vain". This means it is unsuccessful and accomplishes no good purpose. Biblical teaching is not based on the wisdom of man:

This is what we speak, not in words taught us by human wisdom but in words taught by the Spirit, explaining spiritual realities with Spirit-taught words. (I Corinthians 2:13)

God's wisdom accomplishes His purposes in the lives of those taught:

To them God has chosen to make known among the Gentiles the glorious riches of this mystery, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory.

He is the one we proclaim, admonishing and teaching everyone with all wisdom, so that we may present everyone fully mature in Christ.
(Colossians 1:27-28)

TEACHERS MUST LIVE WHAT THEY TEACH:

you, then, who teach others, do you not teach yourself? You who preach against stealing, do you steal?

You who say that people should not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples?
(Romans 2:21-22) (See also Matthew 5:19)

Teachers must live what they teach because they will be judged on the basis of what they have taught:

Not many of you should become teachers, my fellow believers, because you know that we who teach will be judged more strictly. (James 3:1)

Teachers must have experiential knowledge of God's Word. This means they must understand through experience [not just head knowledge] what they are teaching. Paul speaks of those who...

They want to be teachers of the law, but they do not know what they are talking about or what they so confidently affirm. (I Timothy 1:7)

Understanding comes through experience and application of God's Word in your own life.

THERE WILL BE FALSE TEACHERS:

But there were also false prophets among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you. They will secretly introduce destructive heresies, even denying the sovereign Lord who bought them—bringing swift destruction on themselves. (II Peter 2:1)

Some of these false teachers will attract big crowds because they say what people want to hear:

For the time will come when people will not put up with sound doctrine. Instead, to suit their own desires, they will gather around them a great number of teachers to say what their itching ears want to hear.

They will turn their ears away from the truth and turn aside to myths. (II Timothy 4:3-4)

Many false teachers will have a wrong motive. They will teach for financial gain:

They must be silenced, because they are disrupting whole households by teaching things they ought not to teach—and that for the sake of dishonest gain. (Titus 1:11)

You must not accept the doctrines of false teachers:

But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach a gospel other than the one we preached to you, let them be under God's curse!

As we have already said, so now I say again: If anybody is preaching to you a gospel other than what you accepted, let them be under God's curse!

(Galatians 1:8-9)

He came to Jesus at night and said, “Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who has come from God. For no one could perform the signs you are doing if God were not with him.” (John 3:2)

INTRODUCTION

In this chapter you will learn the functions of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit in Biblical teaching. You will learn details of the mission of Jesus, "a teacher come from God". From this study you will discover the divine purpose of your own mission as a teacher.

DIVINE AGENTS IN TEACHING

Biblical teaching is empowered by divine agents. This means there are spiritual powers behind such teaching. It is not just the teaching of a man. The divine agents of Biblical teaching are God the Father, the Son Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit.

GOD THE FATHER:

You learned in the last chapter that it is God who sets believers in the Church with the spiritual gift and office of teaching (Ephesians 4:11). In Biblical teaching the subject that is taught God's Word. You will learn more about this in the next chapter as you study the message of the teacher come from God.

It is God the Father who sent Jesus Christ to earth to teach us about Himself and to provide salvation for all mankind:

For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.

For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. (John 3:16-17)

JESUS CHRIST:

Jesus Christ, God's Son, is the greatest spiritual teacher of all times. Jesus was sent to earth by God the Father:

He came to Jesus at night and said, “Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who has come from God. For no one could perform the signs you are doing if God were not with him.” (John 3:2)

Since Jesus was sent to earth as a teacher representing God, He is the example for Biblical teachers to follow. Jesus is the one who sends believers to the world as teachers:

Again Jesus said, “Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you.” (John 20:21)

Then Jesus came to them and said, “All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me.

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.” (Matthew 28:18-20)

THE HOLY SPIRIT:

When Jesus returned to Heaven following His death and resurrection, the Holy Spirit was sent by God to be the resident teacher in believers. The Holy Spirit dwells within your spirit and teaches you the things of God:

But the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and will remind you of everything I have said to you. (John 14:26)

Additional functions of the Holy Spirit in teaching are revealed in the following passages. The Holy Spirit:

1. Gives instruction in "all things" Jesus taught (John 14:26).
2. Helps you remember what you learn (John 14:26).
3. Guides you into all truth (John 16:13).
4. Declares [announces] future events in God's plan (John 16:13).
5. Reveals the "deep things" of God (I Corinthians 2:10).
6. Is the wisdom behind Biblical teaching (I Corinthians 2:13).
7. Teaches you what to say in crisis situations (Luke 12:12).
8. Anoints you to teach and minister (Luke 4:18, I John 2:27).
9. Enables prayer for students (Romans 8:26).

The Holy Spirit is also at work in the lives of those you teach:

1. As you teach, the Holy Ghost is the spiritual power that convicts sinners and causes them to respond to the Gospel message (John 16:7-11).
2. The Holy Spirit reveals the Lord Jesus Christ to them (John 16:14).
3. The Holy Spirit leads them into the "born again" experience (John 3:5,6,8).
4. He will lead them to life in the Spirit instead of the flesh (Galatians 5:16).
5. He will witness to their hearts the truths of God's Word (Acts 5:29-32).

THE MASTER TEACHER

Jesus is the example for Christian teachers to follow. He is the model for Biblical teaching. Because of this, it is important to learn all you can about Him as a teacher. First, let us look at qualities in the life of Jesus that should be evident in the lives of Christian teachers:

FRUIT OF THE HOLY SPIRIT:

The "fruit" of the Holy Spirit was evident in the life of Jesus. Spiritual "fruit" refers to the positive qualities the Holy Spirit wants to develop in the lives of all believers:

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, forbearance, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. Against such things there is no law. (Galatians 5:22-23)

Read through the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John and note how each of these qualities were evident in the life of Jesus. Each "Spirit filled" teacher of God's Word should also have these same qualities. It is spiritual fruit, not gifts, that are the true test of ministry:

gentleness and self-control. Against such things there is no law.
(Matthew 12:23)

ATTITUDES OF JESUS:

In addition to spiritual fruit, Jesus also was a model of proper attitudes that should be evident in the lives of teachers of God's Word. The following Scriptures illustrate these attitudes:

-Jesus had great compassion for people and their needs: Matthew 15:32; Mark 1:32-35; 8:2-3; Luke 10:54-56; 19:41

-This compassion led Him to intercession for those He taught: Matthew 11:21-24; 23:37-39

-This resulted in concern for the Father's business: Luke 2:49; 4:43; John 4:34; 9:4

-Jesus had an attitude of no condemnation towards those He taught: (Mark 2:17; John 8:1-11). He accepted people where they were and then led them to the level of faith where they should be. He did not condemn Thomas when He doubted (John 20:24-29). He did not condemn the ruler who felt it necessary that Jesus come to his house to pray for his daughter (Matthew 9:18-26) although it had already been shown this was not necessary (Matthew 8:5-13).

-Although Jesus did not condemn, He was uncompromising with sin. This means He did not in any way approve of it or overlook it: Matthew 11:21-24; 15:3-9; 12:12-13; Mark 10:17; Luke 5:31-32; 19:45-46

-Jesus demonstrated a trust in God for the impossible: Mark 10:17; 11:22-24; Luke 18:27

-He demonstrated boldness and authority in His teaching: Matthew 21:23-27; Mark 8:38; 11:24-33; Luke 5:24

-Most important, He had a servant's attitude toward those to whom He ministered: Matthew 20:25-28; 23:2-12; Mark 10:42-45; Luke 22:25-27

THE MISSION OF THE MASTER

When we speak of the "mission" of Jesus, we refer to the following:

Why Jesus taught.
When and where He taught.
Who He taught.
What He taught.
How He taught.

Let us examine why, when, where, and who Jesus taught. Following chapters will focus on the message [what] and methods [how] of His mission.

WHY HE TAUGHT:

Jesus taught because He was commissioned by God to do so. The mission [reason or purpose] of Jesus is summarized in the following Scriptures:

“Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfill them. (Matthew 5:17)

But go and learn what this means: ‘I desire mercy, not sacrifice.’ For I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners.” (Matthew 9:13)

“Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword. (Matthew 10:34)

(Jesus meant His message would cause division; some would accept it and some would not.)

He answered, “I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel.” (Matthew 15:24)

For the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost.” (Matthew 18:11)
(See also Luke 19:10).

On hearing this, Jesus said to them, “It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners.” (Mark 2:17)

Jesus replied, “Let us go somewhere else—to the nearby villages—so I can preach there also. That is why I have come.” (Mark 1:38)

Then he and his disciples went to another village. (Luke 9:56)

He told them, “This is what is written: The Messiah will suffer and rise from the dead on the third day, and repentance for the forgiveness of sins will be preached in his name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

You are witnesses of these things. (Luke 24:46-48)

“My food,” said Jesus, “is to do the will of him who sent me and to finish his work. (John 4:34)

For I have come down from heaven not to do my will but to do the will of him who sent me. (John 6:38)

“You are a king, then!” said Pilate.

Jesus answered, “You say that I am a king. In fact, the reason I was born and came into the world is to testify to the truth. Everyone on the side of truth listens to me.” (John 18:37)

I have come into the world as a light, so that no one who believes in me should stay in darkness. (John 12:46)

I am telling you what I have seen in the Father’s presence, and you are doing what you have heard from your father. (John 8:38)

The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full. (John 10:10)

WHEN AND WHERE HE TAUGHT:

Jesus taught on the Sabbath Day:

They went to Capernaum, and when the Sabbath came, Jesus went into the synagogue and began to teach. (Mark 1:21)
(See also Luke 4:31; 6:6; 13:10).

Jesus taught daily:

Jesus, knowing their thoughts, took a little child and had him stand beside him. (Luke 19:47)

He taught in cities and villages:

Jesus replied, “Let us go somewhere else—to the nearby villages—so I can preach there also. That is why I have come.” (Mark 1:38)

Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness.

He taught in the centers of religious worship:

Jesus went throughout Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom, and healing every disease and sickness among the people. (Matthew 4:23) (See also Matthew 13:54; Mark 1:21; 6:2; Luke 4:15; 6:6; 13:10; John 6:59; 18:20).

Jesus entered the temple courts, and, while he was teaching, the chief priests and the elders of the people came to him. “By what authority are you doing these things?” they asked. “And who gave you this authority?” (Matthew 21:23) (See also Matthew 26:55; Mark 12:35; 14:49; Luke 19:47; 20:21; 21:37; John 7:14,28; 8:2,20).

He taught anywhere and everywhere:

Once again Jesus went out beside the lake. A large crowd came to him, and he began to teach them. (Mark 2:13) (See also Mark 4:1; 10:1; Luke 5:3).

WHO HE TAUGHT:

Jesus taught crowds of people:

Now when Jesus saw the crowds, he went up on a mountainside and sat down. His disciples came to him, and he began to teach them. (Matthew 5:1-2)

(See the "For Further Study" section of this chapter for additional references on the ministry of Jesus to crowds).

Jesus taught individuals:

See John 3 and 4 and the "For Further Study" section of this chapter for references on the ministry of Jesus to individuals.

Jesus taught men and women in all levels of society:

-He taught the rich: Mark 10:17-22

-He taught the poor: Luke 4:18

-He taught all levels of society: The Samaritan woman was of a lower class (John 4). Nicodemus was a ruler and a member of the upper class (John 3).

-He taught those of His own race:

He answered, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel."
(Matthew 15:24)

But they insisted, "He stirs up the people all over Judea by his teaching. He started in Galilee and has come all the way here."
(Luke 23:5)

-He taught those of other races. See John 4 where Jesus taught the Samaritan woman.

-He taught religious leaders:

One day Jesus was teaching, and Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting there. They had come from every village of Galilee and from Judea and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was with Jesus to heal the sick. (Luke 5:17)

-He taught all ages: He taught young rulers (Mark 10:17-22) and a man who had waited 38 years for a miracle (John 5:1-16).

-His teaching mission was to the whole world, people from every culture, tribe, and tongue:

But he said, “I must proclaim the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns also, because that is why I was sent.” (Luke 4:43)

Jesus gave special teaching to His disciples:

He taught them many things by parables, and in his teaching said: (Mark 4:2)

Then he left the crowd and went into the house. His disciples came to him and said, “Explain to us the parable of the weeds in the field.” (Matthew 13:36)

Jesus taught special lessons to His disciples because they were the men He was training for leadership in the Church.

Sometimes Jesus combined groups and taught them together: See Luke 15:1-17:11.

"SO SEND I YOU"

Jesus made an important statement concerning His followers which applies to all true believers. He said...

Again Jesus said, “Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you.” (John 20:21)

This means believers are sent into the world with the same mission as Jesus. Like Jesus, we are teachers "come from God". We can briefly summarize our mission in teaching by this statement: As the Father sent Jesus, so are we sent to accomplish similar purposes. His mission is our mission. Since we have the same mission as Jesus, we should follow His example in who, where, and when we teach. Our mission is to all people, anywhere, anytime. We must also allow God to develop spiritual qualities in our lives like those of Jesus. Review this lesson concerning the mission of Jesus. As you do, remember that you are sent to a lost world with a similar mission.

CHAPTER THREE

A TEACHER COME FROM GOD: THE MESSAGE - PART I

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Summarize the basic message taught by Jesus Christ.
- Give a Biblical reference which summarizes basic elements of the Gospel message.
- Recognize that believers are to teach the same message Jesus taught.
- Recognize that teaching and preaching should be accompanied with the demonstration of God's power.
- Identify the Bible as the basis for instruction on the Kingdom of God.

KEY VERSES:

As you go, proclaim this message: 'The kingdom of heaven has come near.'

Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those who have leprosy,[a] drive out demons. Freely you have received; freely give. (Matthew 10:7-8)

INTRODUCTION

In the last chapter you learned of the teaching mission of Jesus which is now the responsibility of believers. You studied qualities of His lifestyle which should be evident in your life as a teacher. You learned why, when, where and who Jesus taught. In this and the following chapter you will learn what Jesus taught. Jesus did not have a lifetime to train His disciples. He only had a few short years, so He focused His teaching on important concepts. The content of His message should be the focus of your own teaching mission.

THE BASIC MESSAGE

The basic message of Jesus can be summarized in one sentence: He taught all things concerning the Kingdom of God.

All men live in a natural kingdom of this world. They live in a city or village which is part of a nation. That nation is a kingdom of the world. In addition to the natural kingdoms of this world there are two spiritual kingdoms. Every person is a resident of one of these two kingdoms: The Kingdom of Satan or the Kingdom of God. Unbelievers are part of the Kingdom of Satan. Satan rules their lives. They have an ungodly, immoral, fleshly, sinful lifestyle. Those who have repented from sin and accepted Jesus as their personal Savior are part of God's Kingdom. God is their King and He rules their lives.

The Gospel of the Kingdom of God was the central purpose of Christ's life. He began His earthly ministry by declaring the arrival of the Kingdom:

From that time on Jesus began to preach, “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near.” (Matthew 4:17)

He ended His earthly ministry by speaking of "things pertaining to the Kingdom":

After his suffering, he presented himself to them and gave many convincing proofs that he was alive. He appeared to them over a period of forty days and spoke about the kingdom of God. (Acts 1:3)

Between the beginning and ending of His earthly ministry, the Kingdom of God was the focus of His teaching. He said:

But he said, “I must proclaim the good news of the kingdom of God to the other towns also, because that is why I was sent.” (Luke 4:43)

The parables of Jesus focused on the Kingdom. His miracles were a demonstration of the Kingdom of God in action. Jesus taught people how to enter the Kingdom through the born-again experience (John 3). This is evangelism. Jesus also taught people how to live as part of God's Kingdom by developing a Kingdom lifestyle. (For an example, read Matthew 5-7). This is discipleship.

Because of the importance of the subject of God's Kingdom, Harvestime International Institute offers a course entitled "Kingdom Living". If you have not already studied this course it is important that you do so. It contains detailed teaching on the Gospel of the Kingdom.

Another course offered by Harvestime International Institute, "Foundations Of Faith", provides teaching on the basic truths [spiritual "foundations"] on which the Kingdom rests.

If you are taking the Institute courses in their suggested order, you have already studied these courses and understand how to enter and live as part of God's Kingdom. It is this message you must preach and teach to others.

BASIC ELEMENTS OF THE GOSPEL

There is a passage in the New Testament that summarizes the basic Gospel message:

Now, brothers and sisters, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, which you received and on which you have taken your stand.

By this gospel you are saved, if you hold firmly to the word I preached to you. Otherwise, you have believed in vain.

For what I received I passed on to you as of first importance: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures, (I Corinthians 15:1-4)

The basic elements of the Gospel message are that Jesus died for our sins according to the Scriptures, He was buried, and He rose again according to the Scriptures. When you preach or teach the Gospel of the Kingdom your message should include these basic facts. Jesus is the focus of the Gospel message. Biblical teaching should always concern either evangelism [how to enter the Kingdom of God] or discipleship [how to live in the Kingdom of God].

THE WORD OF GOD

Jesus taught God's message of truth:

They sent their disciples to him along with the Herodians. "Teacher," they said, "we know that you are a man of integrity and that you teach the way of God in accordance with the truth. You aren't swayed by others, because you pay no attention to who they are. (Matthew 22:16)

He taught doctrine:

He taught them many things by parables, and in his teaching said: (Mark 4:2)

You will learn as you study the teaching methods of Jesus that He used Old Testament Scriptures frequently. Biblical teaching should include the total revelation of God's Word, as it is the basis of instruction which teaches us how to live in the Kingdom of God:

All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the servant of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work. (II Timothy 3:16-17)

THE COMMISSION TO BELIEVERS

Believers are commissioned by Jesus to teach and preach the same message: The Gospel of the Kingdom of God. Jesus told His followers:

As you go, proclaim this message: ‘The kingdom of heaven has come near.’

Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those who have leprosy,[a] drive out demons. Freely you have received; freely give. (Matthew 10:7-8)

He said to them, “Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation. (Mark 16:15)

The teaching of Jesus always included emphasis on reproduction. Those who became part of God's Kingdom had a responsibility to reproduce and bring others into the Kingdom. This is how the Kingdom would continue to grow and spread throughout the world. New converts in the Kingdom must become disciples. A disciple is a pupil of a teacher who learns and puts into practice what he learns. Disciples must then become apostles. An apostle is one sent forth with a special commission representing the sender.

Because you received the Gospel freely from Jesus, you are to share it freely with others. The pattern is summarized by the Apostle Paul:

He said to them, “Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation.
(II Timothy 2:2)

It is important that you are faithful to the commission of spreading the Gospel of the Kingdom because when you have completed the task, the kingdoms of this world will end:

And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come. (Matthew 24:14)

THE DEMONSTRATION OF POWER

The message of the Kingdom of God is not just to be a verbal message. It is to be accompanied by a demonstration of the power of the Kingdom in action. Jesus said:

“The Spirit of the Lord is on me,
because he has anointed me
to proclaim good news to the poor.
He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind,
to set the oppressed free, (Luke 4:18)

The Kingdom of God was demonstrated as Jesus taught:

Jesus went throughout Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom, and healing every disease and sickness among the people. (Matthew 4:23)

Therefore anyone who sets aside one of the least of these commands and teaches others accordingly will be called least in the kingdom of heaven, but whoever practices and teaches these commands will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:19)

When Jesus commissioned His followers to spread the Gospel of the Kingdom, He told them to...

Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those who have leprosy, drive out demons. Freely you have received; freely give. (Matthew 10:8)

The message of the Kingdom of God must be accompanied by a demonstration of His power that changes lives. Because of the importance of this subject, Harvestime International Institute offers a course entitled "Power Principles". The "teaching tactics" you learn in this course must be combined with the demonstration of power, so it is important that you study and apply the principles taught in both courses.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verses from memory.

2. What was the basic message taught by Jesus Christ?

6. What is the basic book for instruction which teaches about the Kingdom of God?

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. Obtain the Harvestime International Institute course entitled "Kingdom Living" for further study of the spiritual Kingdom of which Jesus taught.

CHAPTER FOUR

A TEACHER COME FROM GOD: THE MESSAGE - PART II

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Continue studying the message taught by Jesus.
- Use this lesson to share the teachings of Jesus Christ with others.

KEY VERSE:

The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.
(I John 1:5)

INTRODUCTION

The general message of Jesus was the Gospel of the Kingdom. But what were the specific details of His teaching?

HOW TO STUDY WHAT JESUS TAUGHT

1. Obtain a red letter edition of the Bible. This is a Bible which has everything Jesus said printed in red. You can study His teachings in detail by studying all that is printed in red in the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke, John and Acts chapter One. (If you cannot obtain such a Bible, then use a regular Bible and underline everything Jesus said.)
2. Study Acts and the Epistles [Romans through Jude] in the New Testament. Observe what these believers taught as they fulfilled the teaching commission given by Jesus.
3. Use the following outline to study and teach what Jesus taught.

TEACHING WHAT JESUS TAUGHT

This outline lists references for all the subjects Jesus taught on during His earthly ministry. The teachings are grouped according to general subject matter.

There are four main books in the Bible which record the teachings of Jesus. These are the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Often a certain teaching of Jesus is repeated in all four books. The references in this chapter are organized to combine these similar accounts.

This outline will help you teach important truths Jesus taught. It will equip you to share the message of His Gospel with the nations of the world.

Note: Because of the reference format of this chapter, there is no "Self-Test" or "For Further Study" section.

CHAPTER FIVE

A TEACHER SENT FROM GOD: THE METHODS - PART I

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to explain how Jesus used the following teaching methods:

- Miracles
- Authority
- Love And Compassion

- Response
- Delegation
- Environment

- Grouping Of Students

KEY VERSE:

Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness. (Matthew 9:35)

INTRODUCTION

You have learned when, where, why, and what Jesus taught during His earthly ministry. In this and the following chapter you will study how Jesus taught. These lessons focus on the methods He used in teaching. A method is a plan, system, procedure, or way of doing something. The teaching methods of Jesus refer to how He taught.

Often, the Church has been content to use secular educational methods rather than those revealed in God's Word. The best methods for Biblical teaching are those which Jesus used and proved to be effective. This lesson focuses on general methods which accompanied the teaching of Jesus. The following chapter concerns specific methods of verbal instruction.

MIRACLES

You have learned that the message of the teacher should be accompanied by the demonstration of God's power. This demonstration of power attracts people to hear the Word of God:

When the Sabbath came, he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were amazed.

“Where did this man get these things?” they asked. “What’s this wisdom that has been given him? What are these remarkable miracles he is performing? (Mark 6:2) (See also Matthew 13:54).

Jesus used miracles to prepare the hearts of people to receive messages. In John 9 read the story of Jesus healing the man blind from birth. As a result of his healing the witness of God's power went to his neighbors (9:8), the religious leaders (9:13), and his family (9:18). In John 9:41-10, Jesus used the healing to teach a message from God to the religious leaders.

The miracles of Jesus ministered to people at their point of need. As you study more about miracles in the "For Further Study" section of this lesson you will see how His miracles met material, physical, emotional, spiritual, mental, and natural needs. Demons were cast out, the dead were raised, the sick were healed, the hungry fed, and those in need of deliverance received it.

There is no greater method to illustrate and confirm a Biblical message than the demonstration of God's power. This power meets human need and brings change to lives. This is why Jesus delegated spiritual power to His followers:

Calling the Twelve to him, he began to send them out two by two and gave them authority over impure spirits. (Mark 6:7)

As you go, proclaim this message: ‘The kingdom of heaven has come near.’

Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those who have leprosy, drive out demons. Freely you have received; freely give. (Matthew 10:7-8)

Very truly I tell you, whoever believes in me will do the works I have been doing, and they will do even greater things than these, because I am going to the Father. (John 14:12)

AUTHORITY

Jesus taught with authority. "Authority" means to exercise power of command. Like miracles, teaching with authority attracted listeners:

The people were amazed at his teaching, because he taught them as one who had authority, not as the teachers of the law. (Mark 1:22) (See also Matthew 21:23).

Some modern educators encourage the teacher to become "one of the group" rather than teach with authority. But Jesus taught with authority. The authority of Jesus was given by God. Before returning to Heaven, Jesus gave us spiritual authority:

Again Jesus said, "Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you." (John 20:21)

Jesus promised authority [power] to believers to enable them to teach and preach as witnesses of the Gospel:

But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth." (Acts 1:8)

Education, social position, or natural ability is not the basis of Biblical authority. Our authority in teaching comes from Jesus Christ.

LOVE AND COMPASSION

Jesus did not condemn those He taught. Instead, He showed them love and compassion. When the woman was caught in the act of adultery, He did not condemn her (John 8:11). When Mary used expensive perfume to anoint Him, Jesus did not condemn her for wasting what could have been sold to help the poor. He understood the reason behind the act and treated her with love (Matthew 26:10-13).

Jesus had compassion on the blind (Mark 10:46-62) and children (Mark 10:13-16) when His own disciples did not care. Jesus loved even the rich young man who chose riches instead of following Him (Mark 10:17-22). Jesus healed the ear of the soldier who came to arrest Him (Luke 22:50-51). The compassion of Jesus led Him to intercession for the people to whom He ministered (Mark 6:34) and their cities (Luke 19:41).

I Corinthians 13 reveals that any ministry [teaching included] is not effective unless done in love. Teachers must show love, concern, and compassion to students or "it profiteth nothing".

ASSOCIATION AND IMITATION

When Jesus called His disciples, He had a specific purpose:

He appointed twelve that they might be with him and that he might send them out to preach and to have authority to drive out demons. (Mark 3:14-15)

The disciples were first called to be with Jesus, to learn from Him by the example He set. Knowledge was gained by association before it was understood by explanation. The disciples were to be "with" Jesus in an active role. They were not to be just passive listeners. They were to observe and participate in His ministry. Jesus lived and demonstrated what He taught. His example of living His messages is one of the most effective teaching methods you can follow.

Jesus showed His students how to apply Biblical teaching to everyday life. To teach the lesson on prayer, He prayed. To teach the importance of Scripture He quoted from it. To teach the importance of spreading the Gospel, He spread it. To explain God's power, He demonstrated it.

The upright lifestyle of a teacher adds the highest credibility to his message. The teacher must have contact with students in everyday life and ministry situations to provide opportunity for learning by association.

RESPONSE

From the time He first told His disciples "Follow Me", Jesus continually called for response to the messages He taught. He told men and women to come to Him and to take up their cross (Mark 8:34-35). He sent them to testify before their families (Mark 5:19) and religious leaders (Luke 5:14). He told some to sell their riches (Mark 10:21), go wash in pools of water (John 9:7) and other similar commands.

Teaching is not complete without the living out of the teachings. You must teach students to act upon what they have been taught. They must become doers of the Word, not just professional listeners:

Do not merely listen to the word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says.

Anyone who listens to the word but does not do what it says is like someone who looks at his face in a mirror and, after looking at himself, goes away and immediately forgets what he looks like.

But whoever looks intently into the perfect law that gives freedom, and continues in it—not forgetting what they have heard, but doing it—they will be blessed in what they do. (James 1:22-25)

Spiritual growth is not measured by what a student hears, but by what he does about what he hears. You must teach so students experience the Word, not just learn information about it.

They must come to really know God, not just know about Him. Learning involves "doing" as well as "teaching". Jesus demonstrated this in His own ministry:

TIn my former book, Theophilus, I wrote about all that Jesus began to do and to teach (Acts 1:1)

Jesus said:

Therefore anyone who sets aside one of the least of these commands and teaches others accordingly will be called least in the kingdom of heaven, but whoever practices and teaches these commands will be called great in the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:19)

He taught His disciples to "do" as well as "teach":

The apostles gathered around Jesus and reported to him all they had done and taught. (Mark 6:30)

An opportunity for response from the students should always be provided when you teach. You will learn more about this in Chapter Ten, "Lesson Planning". But a call for response must not be cheap emotional appeal. Jesus made it clear that to respond to the claims of the Gospel would be costly:

Then he called the crowd to him along with his disciples and said: "Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross and follow me.

For whoever wants to save their life will lose it, but whoever loses their life for me and for the gospel will save it. (Mark 8:34-35)

DELEGATION

From the beginning of time, God delegated responsibility to people. He gave them assignments such as naming the animals, and building arks, tabernacles, temples, and walls. Jesus also delegated spiritual projects to His disciples. He told them to feed the multitudes (Matthew 14:16). He sent them out to preach the Gospel and heal the sick (Matthew 10:9-10). He expected them to reproduce spiritually (John 15).

Jesus prepared students to take His place when He returned to Heaven. Gradually, He delegated to them His responsibility for ministry, teaching, and preaching. You should teach as if you are preparing each student to take your place. To properly prepare them, you must delegate responsibility for the Word with which you have entrusted them.

As a teacher, you must have spiritual goals for your students. You must plan lessons and projects for them which will help them achieve these goals. Delegation of responsibility for ministry is an important part of this process.

ENVIRONMENT

Jesus used the natural environment in which He found people to teach spiritual lessons. The "environment" includes the physical, social and cultural, and spiritual factors which surround a person. It is the society in which a person lives, works, and ministers.

Jesus made each learning situation part of real life. He taught people right where they lived, worked, or ministered. God continues to teach us in natural life situations through the problems and challenges we face each day. (This is the method of Harvestime International Institute. That is why this course comes to you right where YOU live and work.)

Jesus did not rely on the formal lecture hall, Sabbath day class, or pulpit. As you learned in Chapter Two, He took advantage of every casual encounter to teach. Wherever He was, He taught. Jesus used the circumstances of life to teach lessons. When He happened to pass a funeral procession, He raised a man from the dead (Luke 7:11-15). When Jesus was thirsty, He gave a message on living water (John 3). When He saw a poor woman bringing her offering to the temple, He preached a message on giving (Mark 12:41-44).

People learn best when it is related to their environment. What they learn must be practical and apply to the problems they face. The message must minister to their special needs. When you relate the truths of God's Word to everyday life it is called "application". You "apply" what you learn to real life situations.

Such situations vary from culture to culture and differ depending on the audience. This is why you must know your pupils in order to apply the Word to their lives. You will learn more about this in later lessons entitled "Analyzing The Audience" and "Lesson Planning".

VISUAL DEMONSTRATION

Jesus used visual aids to illustrate His teaching. A "visual" aid is an object, symbol, or action which illustrates what is being taught. For example, when Jesus wanted to teach the childlike attitude necessary to receive Him and enter the Kingdom...

He took a little child whom he placed among them. Taking the child in his arms, he said to them,

“Whoever welcomes one of these little children in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me does not welcome me but the one who sent me.”
(Mark 9:36-37)

When Jesus explained the meaning of His death He used the symbols of bread and wine (Mark 14:22-25). When Jesus wanted to teach a lesson regarding humble service He washed the disciples feet (John 13:1-17). Jesus used visual aids such as flowers (Matthew 5:28) and birds (Matthew 5:26) to illustrate what He wanted to teach. Chapter Seven in this manual, "Teaching Aids", suggests visual aids you can purchase or make, depending on your culture, finances, and availability of materials. But even if you have no money or access to such aids, you can use objects from your own environment to illustrate your teaching. Jesus had no money for equipment or material to create visual aids. He used simple objects from the environment.

THE PRINCIPLE OF GRADUAL LEARNING

Jesus realized His students could only learn so much at one time. Because of this, He adjusted His teaching to a level they could properly understand:

With many similar parables Jesus spoke the word to them, as much as they could understand. (Mark 4:33)

"I have much more to say to you, more than you can now bear. (John 16:12)

Each group of students and each individual learns at a different rate. The ability of students to learn is affected by many different things. You will learn more about this in Chapter Eight, "Analyzing The Audience."

GROUPING OF STUDENTS

Jesus adapted His teaching to various groups of students.

LARGE CROWDS:

Jesus used the lecture method when He taught large crowds. He did not allow for interruptions or invite a response until the end of the lesson. This is best for large groups. Preaching usually always follows this pattern. See Matthew 5-7 for an example.

SMALL GROUPS:

Most often in small groups Jesus allowed audience participation. For examples see Mark 8:10-12; 14:21; 27-30.

INDIVIDUALS:

Jesus used a conversational method with individuals. He talked with them and asked and answered questions. The method was much like a normal conversation between two people. For examples see John 3 and 4.

CHAPTER SIX

A TEACHER COME FROM GOD: THE METHODS - PART II

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Briefly summarize how Jesus used the following teaching methods:
- Known To Unknown
- General To Specific
- Object Lessons
- Questions And Answers
- Parables
- Case Histories
- Use Of Scripture
- Contrasts
- Problems
- Occasions

KEY VERSE:

Coming to his hometown, he began teaching the people in their synagogue, and they were amazed. “Where did this man get this wisdom and these miraculous powers?” they asked. (Matthew 13:54)

INTRODUCTION

Most of the teaching of Jesus was verbal. There is only one record of Him writing His message (John 8:6). This chapter focuses on specific methods of verbal instruction used by Jesus.

KNOWN TO UNKNOWN

Jesus used the known to teach the unknown. He used the old to introduce the new. He started with truths people knew and understood, then built on them to teach truths they did not know.

For example, Jesus would often state a truth from Old Testament law, then reveal a new truth. (See Matthew 5:17-48).

Teaching must result in understanding. Revealing new truths by building on what is already known by the listener is an excellent way to achieve this goal. It is important that people understand with their minds the message because...

for he is the kind of person who is always thinking about the cost.[b] “Eat and drink,” he says to you, but his heart is not with you. (Proverbs 23:7)

GENERAL TO SPECIFIC

God reveals knowledge in ever increasing revelation. He moves from general to specific knowledge. A general revelation is made, then specific detail is added. For example, the first general prediction of a Savior was given in Genesis 3:15. Later on, as the Old Testament prophets wrote, God revealed much more detail concerning the coming Savior.

In John 6:35 Jesus revealed the general truth that He was the bread of life. In John 6:51-58 Jesus expanded this truth. He gave more detail about His body as the bread of life of which one must partake if they are to experience eternal life. Jesus used this pattern of teaching, which is a sound principle of learning you can follow.

OBJECT LESSONS

Jesus used common objects and symbols with which His listeners were familiar to teach Biblical truths. He used the lilies of the field and the birds to teach God's care (Matthew 6:26-30). He used fishing and harvesting to illustrate the need for laborers to reach the unsaved (John 4:35 and Matthew 4:19).

Jesus used broken bread as a symbol for His broken body and wine as a symbol of His blood (Luke 22:19-20). He used the washing of the disciples' feet to illustrate humble service in leadership (John 13:1-17). Jesus called a little child as an example of the humility and trust required to enter the Kingdom of God (Mark 10:13-16). He used many symbols to illustrate the Kingdom of God, including the parables of the net, seeds, tares and wheat, leaven, mustard seed, etc.

When object lessons are used, they must be common objects or symbols with which the student is familiar.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Jesus used questions and answers often in His teaching. Many times, Jesus would ask a question to make His listeners think. Sometimes He would require an answer (Matthew 16:13-16). Other times Jesus would ask a question which remained unanswered. It was designed only to make His listeners think and draw their own conclusions (Luke 10:25-37; Mark 10:17-18).

Sometimes His questions were in the form of a problem to think about (Matthew 21:25-27). Other times He would ask a question to stimulate thinking (Matthew 5:13). Sometimes His entire conversation was a series of questions (Matthew 16:9-12). Often Jesus responded to questions which people asked by asking another question (Matthew 9:14-15; 12:10-11; 15:1-3; 21:23-25).

Jesus used questions in different ways. You can use them in these ways also:

- To introduce a lesson: Matthew 21:28
- Following a lesson: Matthew 21:40
- To recall the known: Mark 2:25-26
- To touch the conscience of listeners: Matthew 23:17
- To create faith: Mark 8:29
- To clarify a situation: Mark 10:3
- To rebuke criticism: Mark 2:25-26
- Motivate further thought or research: Matthew 6:25-31
- Consider different actions: Matthew 9:5
- Gain understanding of students: Matthew 16:15

The teacher can:

- Ask questions of a whole class.
- Ask a question of one student.
- Write questions on study or test papers.

Students can:

- Ask questions of the teacher.
- Ask questions of each other.
- Raise questions out of their own research of God's Word.

Here are some suggestions to help you ask good questions:

- Ask one question at a time. More than one question is confusing to the student.
- After asking a question, be silent. Wait for the student to respond.
- Follow up a general question with more specific questions on the same subject.
- Respond to answers given by students. Discuss the answers. Do not embarrass a student who gives a wrong answer.
- Ask questions that are "open" rather than "closed". A closed question is one that calls for a simple "yes" or "no" answer. Closed questions do not encourage the student to further thought and study. Here is an example of a closed question:

"Did Jesus die on the cross?"

This question calls for only a "yes" answer. Here is an example of an open question:

"Why did Jesus die on the cross?"

This question calls for more than a "yes" or "no" answer. It causes students to think further about the death of Jesus. They can respond with many answers:

"Because this was the purpose for which God sent Him into the world."

"Because of His love for the whole world."

"To save people from sin."

"For our healing as well as our salvation."

"For MY own personal sins."

Each of these answers can lead to further discussion of the death of Jesus on the cross.

The "For Further Study" section of this chapter provides opportunity for you to learn more about the questions of Jesus and how to use questions in your own teaching.

PARABLES

A parable is a story which uses an example from the natural world to illustrate a spiritual truth. The actual meaning of the word "parable" is to "lay beside, to compare". In parables, Jesus used a natural example and compared it to a spiritual truth. A parable is an earthly story with a Heavenly meaning.

Jesus often used parables as a method of teaching:

With many similar parables Jesus spoke the word to them, as much as they could understand. (Mark 4:33)

Parables must be explained to be understood:

He did not say anything to them without using a parable. But when he was alone with his own disciples, he explained everything. (Mark 4:34)

On one occasion the disciples asked Jesus why He taught using parables. He answered:

He replied, "Because the knowledge of the secrets of the kingdom of heaven has been given to you, but not to them. (Matthew 13:11) (See also Luke 8:10).

People with spiritual minds understand spiritual parables. Those with carnal minds do not:

The person without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God but considers them foolishness, and cannot understand them because they are discerned only through the Spirit.

(I Corinthians 2:14)

A spiritually minded man is one who has been born again spiritually. Study John 3 for an explanation of the "born-again" experience.

The parables Jesus taught concerned subjects familiar to His audience. When you teach, you can use the parables Jesus taught but you can also create modern parables on subjects familiar to your audience.

Because cultures differ, parables which are understood by people in North America may not be understood by people in Australia, Africa, Asia, Latin America, and Europe. Each different group of people should have parables which relate to their own experiences. For additional study on this subject of parables see the "For Further Study" section of this lesson.

CASE HISTORIES

Like parables, case histories are stories which illustrate Biblical truths. But case histories are true stories which actually happened. For example, the story of Lazarus and the rich man was an actual case history. Both Lazarus and the rich man were real people.

You can use the case histories Jesus used to teach lessons. See the "For Further Study" section of this chapter for additional examples of case histories used by Jesus. You can also use modern case histories. Use examples from your own spiritual experience. Use case studies of modern spiritual leaders to illustrate Biblical truths.

USE OF SCRIPTURES

At the time of the ministry of Jesus, only the Old Testament had been written. Jesus knew the Old Testament Scriptures and used them frequently in His teaching. Turn to the "For Further Study" section of this lesson and review some of the Old Testament quotations used by Jesus.

It is important that you use God's Word in your teaching because it is HIS Words that are most effective in accomplishing spiritual purposes:

so is my word that goes out from my mouth:
It will not return to me empty,
but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it. (Isaiah 55:11)

CONTRASTS

Jesus used many contrasts in teaching. A contrast can be made when two things are opposite or different from each other. For example, Jesus contrasted good and evil, light and darkness, the rich and poor to illustrate truths He was teaching.

Contrasts can be used to teach spiritual differences. You can create original examples of contrasts or use the ones Jesus shared with His students. Study the contrasts used by Jesus in the "For Further Study" section of this lesson.

PROBLEMS

Jesus used problems of everyday life to teach lessons. Real thinking and learning often begins with a problem. For example, the scribe had a problem wondering who had the right to forgive sins (Mark 2:7).

When the teachers of the law who were Pharisees saw him eating with the sinners and tax collectors, they asked his disciples: “Why does he eat with tax collectors and sinners?” (Mark 2:16).

Jesus used each of these problems to teach important spiritual truths. For other examples of the use of problems in teaching, see the "For Further Study" section of this chapter.

OCCASIONS

Jesus used occasions which were part of the common circumstances of life to teach lessons. He used the occasion of the woman coming to draw water at the well to teach a lesson on living water (John 4). When Jesus was criticized for eating a meal with the Pharisees, He used the criticism as an occasion to teach the parable of the two debtors (Luke 7:36-50).

See the "For Further Study" section of this chapter for other examples of the use of occasion as a teaching method.

FOR FURTHER STUDY

The following activities will provide further study for each subject discussed in this lesson.

KNOWN TO UNKNOWN

Study the following references where Jesus used the known to teach the unknown:

Matthew: 5:17-48; 12:3-8,38-42; 16:5-12

Mark: 2:23-28; 7:9-13; 8:17-21; 10:17-20

GENERAL TO SPECIFIC

One of the best examples of teaching from general to specific is found in John 6:35. Jesus explains the general concept of His death on the cross. He gives specific details in John 6:35-58. In Matthew Jesus gives general information on His death in Matthew 9:43-45, but the disciples did not understand. He explained more details in Matthew 18:31-34, and they finally understood when He completed teaching on the subject in Matthew 22:15-23.

Can you find other examples of how Jesus used this method in His teaching?

OBJECT LESSONS

Study the following references where Jesus used objects or symbols to teach spiritual truths. Make a chart to identify the spiritual truth Jesus was teaching. The headings for your chart should be as follows:

Now create some modern parables:

1. Select a Biblical truth or lesson you want to teach.
2. Think of some situation, condition, or example the listener will understand.
3. Using this example, create a parable [story] which illustrates the Biblical truth you want to teach.

Remember: The parable must illustrate the truth to be taught. A story just for the sake of telling a story is not effective. It must relate to or illustrate God's Word.

CASE HISTORIES

Study the following examples of case histories. Can you find others in the teaching of Jesus?

Case History	Reference
John the Baptist	Matthew 11:7-19; Luke 7:24-25
Lazarus and the rich man	Luke 16:19-31

Now create your own case histories. Think of some true event that has happened which illustrates a Biblical truth. For example, do you know someone who accepted Jesus just before they died in an accident? You could use their "case history" to illustrate a message on "Today Is The Day Of Salvation".

What personal experience have you had which illustrate Biblical truths? Tell your own personal "case history" (also called your personal testimony). Use the lives of great spiritual leaders in modern times as case histories. How did their lives demonstrate the truths of God's Word?

CHAPTER SEVEN

TEACHING AIDS

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define "teaching aids".
- Explain what audio-visual aids are.
- Explain the importance of audio-visual aids.
- Create audio-visual aids.
- Evaluate teaching aids.

KEY VERSES:

He took a little child whom he placed among them. Taking the child in his arms, he said to them,

“Whoever welcomes one of these little children in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me does not welcome me but the one who sent me.” (Mark 9:36-37)

INTRODUCTION

In this lesson you will learn about various aids which can be used when you teach. You may not have access to all of the teaching aids discussed in this chapter because of your geographic location or financial situation. Because Harvestime International Institute courses are used in many places, this chapter is included for those who do have access to such materials. We have also included suggestions for teaching aids you can use without cost or special equipment.

TEACHING AIDS

A teaching aid is something that helps you teach a lesson. This is why it is called an "aid". A teaching aid may be an activity or project which helps students understand a certain Biblical truth. A teaching aid may also be an object which can be seen, heard, or touched. Such an object is called an "audio-visual aid".

The word "audio" refers to hearing. The word "visual" refers to seeing. An "audio-visual aid" is something that can be seen, heard, or touched and which aids in learning. Sometimes the aid is totally audio, such as a cassette recording or a record.

Sometimes it is totally visual, such as a picture which illustrates a truth. Other times, both audio and visual are combined in a teaching aid. An example of this would be a movie or video with sound.

THE IMPORTANCE OF TEACHING AIDS

Teaching aids are important because seeing, hearing, and doing are the main ways we learn. Special studies have been done which reveal that we remember:

...10% of what we hear,
...50% of what we see,
...70% of what we do,
...and 90% of what we see, hear, say, and do.

Because of this, it is important that teachers combine audio, visual, and activity aids in teaching.

TYPES OF TEACHING AIDS

Here are some aids you can use in teaching:

COMMON OBJECTS:

You can use common objects in the environment to illustrate a lesson. Jesus used many such aids. He used flowers, candles, birds, fish, seed, wheat, children, and rocks to illustrate His lessons.

PICTURES:

Sources include photographs, newspaper clippings, book and magazine pictures.

VIDEO-CASSETTES AND DVDs:

Video-cassettes and DVDs are motion pictures with sound which require special projectors or computers to be shown.

AUDIO-CASSETTES AND CDs:

Audio cassettes and CDs are audio recordings made by either a cassette recorder or a computer.

BIBLE RESEARCH MATERIALS:

Encourage students to use Bible concordances, dictionaries, atlases, word study books, and commentaries if they are available. They will learn more about the lesson you are teaching while developing valuable Bible study skills.

COMPUTER GENERATED PROJECTIONS:

Maps, outlines, words to songs, and Scriptures can be put on a computer or mobile device and projected on a screen for viewing and study.

PROJECTS:

Assign projects to students to reinforce what they have learned. They may draw a map or picture, build a model of something [like the Old Testament tabernacle], write a report, or create a chart or graph. Practical ministry projects can be included such as witnessing to others, visiting the sick, feeding the hungry, etc. Projects encourage students to "do the Word" instead of being hearers only.

MAPS:

Maps help students understand the land where Bible events occurred. Students can study maps or draw maps relating to the lesson.

STUDY TRIPS:

Study trips are another excellent teaching aid. Students can visit a Bible museum, a prison, rest home, etc., to learn more and/or apply what they have already learned.

CHARTS AND GRAPHS:

Create a chart or graph to illustrate the lesson. The chart could list main points of the lesson or the Scripture memory verse. Graphs could be used to make comparisons.

GAMES, PUZZLES:

An excellent idea for working with children is to create games and puzzles to reinforce teaching. For example, write each individual word of a Scripture text on separate cards and mix them up. Have students place them in correct order. This will aid in memorizing the verse.

DRAMA:

Students can act out [dramatize] the Bible lesson that has been taught. To do this, students take the roles of different characters in the lesson and act out the Bible story.

PUPPETS:

Puppets are another way of acting out Bible stories. Puppets are miniature figures of people and animals that can be used to dramatize stories. They can be created out of cardboard, cloth, and other materials.

CHALKBOARD OR WHITE BOARD:

Chalkboards or white boards are boards covered with a special coating which enables you to write on them, erase it, and use the same surface again. The teacher can use the boards to write key phrases, verses, or outlines of the lesson. They can also be used to draw pictures and illustrations. Students may also use the boards for the same purposes as a learning activity.

FLASH CARDS:

Flash cards are pieces of paper or cardboard which can be held in your hand and "flashed" before students as a learning aid. For example, you can create memory verse flash cards. One side can have the verse written out. The other side can have the Bible reference. When you flash the Bible reference, have the class say the correct verse. When you flash the verse for them to see, they must give the correct reference.

SONGS:

Songs can be used as a teaching aid. Use a song that:

- Relates to the lesson you have shared.
- Calls for the type of response you have requested in the lesson. For example, calling for acceptance of the Gospel if that has been the subject of the lesson.
- Is in keeping with the spirit of the lesson: Happy and joyous or slow and worshipful.

TESTIMONIES:

Testimonies by students or guests can be used to illustrate the lesson. For example, if teaching a lesson on deliverance, have someone testify concerning their own deliverance.

MEMORIZATION:

Memorizing verses, stories, and facts are an excellent aid to help students remember Bible lessons.

TESTING:

Students can be tested to reinforce learning. The test may be oral or written. After the test, review any materials with which students had difficulty.

STORY-TELLING AND REVIEW:

When working with young children have them tell the story in their own words after the lesson. Adults can summarize a lesson. Review the lesson through discussion, questions and answers.

SOURCES OF TEACHING AIDS

You can make some teaching aids yourself. Others can be purchased from stores. If you have no funds or access to such aids, use simple objects from your own environment or activities requiring no materials or cost.

Jesus had no money for equipment or material to create teaching aids, yet He used them frequently by selecting items from the natural environment to illustrate His lessons. You may also be able to borrow audio-visual aids and necessary equipment from members of your church, other churches, libraries, the local public school, or your denominational headquarters.

EVALUATING TEACHING AIDS

Use the following checklist to evaluate teaching aids:

1. Does the aid or activity relate to the lesson? Does it help explain or present it more clearly?
2. Is it appropriate for the age level for which it is intended?
3. Is it worth the price if you are purchasing and/or the time and cost to make it if you are creating an audio-visual aid?
4. How does it contribute to achieving the objectives you have set for the lesson?
5. Is it clear and easy to understand?

Remember: Teaching aids are just that...aids. Do not depend upon them alone. Our confidence is in the Word of God used by the Spirit of God to do the work of God in the lives of students.

A good farmer uses the best tools he has to plant his fields. But he knows that it is the seed, not his tools, that brings the harvest.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verses from memory.

2. What is a teaching aid?

3. What are audio-visual aids?

4. Why are audio-visual aids important?

5. What type of audio-visual aids did Jesus use?

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. Create an audio or visual aid for a lesson you plan to teach.
2. Evaluate the aid you created using the checklist provided in this lesson:
 1. Does the aid or activity relate to the lesson? Does it help explain or present it more clearly?
 2. Is it appropriate for the age level for which it is intended?
 3. Is it worth the price if you are purchasing and/or the time and cost to make it if you are creating an audio-visual aid?
 4. How does it contribute to achieving the objectives you have set for the lesson?
 5. Is it clear and easy to understand?

CHAPTER EIGHT

ANALYZING THE AUDIENCE

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define "audience analysis".
- Explain the importance of audience analysis.
- Summarize steps for audience analysis.
- Summarize characteristics of various age groups.

KEY VERSES:

But Jesus would not entrust himself to them, for he knew all people.

He did not need any testimony about mankind, for he knew what was in each person. (John 2:24-25)

INTRODUCTION

Before you begin to teach it is important to analyze your audience, set objectives, and plan the lesson. This lesson explains how to analyze the audience. The following two chapters concern setting objectives and lesson planning.

AUDIENCE ANALYSIS

The "audience" is the group of people you will teach. To "analyze" something is to study it in detail, to carefully examine its characteristics, to study the parts of a whole. To analyze an audience means to carefully study the characteristics of a group of people you plan to teach.

THE IMPORTANCE OF ANALYZING

Analyzing an audience is important because learning is affected by many factors which include language, education, culture, physical abilities, spiritual maturity, sex, marital status, social and economic level, personal needs, and age.

If you do not analyze the audience you may be teaching above or below their educational level and/or their level of spiritual maturity. You may not use a language they understand. You may not relate lessons to their social and economic level or to their personal needs.

You cannot know everything about every person in the audience. But you can think about what the majority of your audience is like and ask the Holy Spirit to help you meet their specific needs.

Jesus understood His audience. He knew His listener's customs and lifestyle because He was one of them. Jesus also had divine knowledge of their needs:

But Jesus would not entrust himself to them, for he knew all people.

He did not need any testimony about mankind, for he knew what was in each person. (John 2:24-25)

God can show you things about an audience but you can also develop some practical skills to help you in this area. The Apostle Paul did this:

Then Paul, knowing that some of them were Sadducees and the others Pharisees, called out in the Sanhedrin, “My brothers, I am a Pharisee, descended from Pharisees. I stand on trial because of the hope of the resurrection of the dead.” (Acts 23:6)

When Paul ministered to Jews, He emphasized His Jewish background. When he spoke to Romans and other nationalities, he changed his approach. Paul knew the importance of analyzing his audience, speaking to them in their own language, and using an approach with which they could identify:

Paul answered, “I am a Jew, from Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no ordinary city. Please let me speak to the people.”

When they heard him speak to them in Aramaic, they became very quiet. Then Paul said:(Acts 21:39 and 22:2)

HOW TO ANALYZE AN AUDIENCE

Here are some steps to help you analyze an audience you plan to teach:

1. Pray for God to reveal to you their spiritual, emotional, mental, physical, and material needs:

If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to you. (James 1:5)

2. We are told to covet [seek] spiritual gifts (I Corinthians 12:31). Ask God for the spiritual gifts of word of wisdom and word of knowledge. These gifts provide divine knowledge into people and their problems combined with a word of wisdom to help them. The gift of discerning of spirits is also helpful. (For further study of these spiritual gifts, see the Harvestime International Institute course, "Ministry Of The Holy Spirit").
3. Observe and associate with your students. You will learn much by watching and being with them. Read the Gospels and note how Jesus observed the behavior of His own disciples and how this affected His teaching.
4. If you are ministering in a nation different than your own, learn all you can about the people by asking questions, observing, and reading books about the culture.
5. If possible, visit the homes of your students. You will learn much by viewing their personal environment.
6. If you are ministering to children, get to know their parents. Ask the parents about special needs of the children and work with the parents in these areas.
7. Use the guide for audience analysis provided in the remainder of this lesson.

A GUIDE TO AUDIENCE ANALYSIS

Use this guide to analyze your audience. Learning is affected by the following factors:

LANGUAGE:

The student must understand the language in which the lesson is taught. Otherwise, a translator must be used.

Analyze Your Audience:

-Do they speak the same language you do?

-Are there those in the audience who do not speak your language? If so, a translator will be needed.

EDUCATION:

The difficulty of the lesson must be adjusted to the educational level of the majority of the audience. Some students have had formal schooling and others have not. Some are slow learners and others learn rapidly.

Analyze Your Audience:

-What is the general educational level of the students? Are they illiterate, primary, secondary, or college level?

-Do you have students with educational problems? If so, what are they and how will you deal with them?

CULTURE:

Culture affects the learning process. The teacher must use examples understood in the culture. Culture affects how we think and how we perceive the world around us. People learn best when lessons are related to their environment. Culture determines appropriate response. For example, some cultures are very unemotional. Others are emotional. How students respond to the Gospel is often affected by their culture.

In some cultures it is not acceptable for a woman to teach a man or a man to teach a woman. Other cultures require teachers to receive approval of an elder or tribal leader before teaching. You may need to adjust your style of dress or appearance to be accepted.

It is important to understand and work within the culture, as far as possible, as long as it does not violate Scriptural principles or compromise the presentation of the Gospel message.

Analyze Your Audience:

-What cultures are represented?

-In what ways will the culture affect your method of teaching?

-How will the culture affect the application of your lesson?

-In what way will culture affect the response from students?

-Will you need to adjust your style of teaching or appearance to be accepted in this culture?

PHYSICAL ABILITIES:

Physical abilities can affect learning. For example, a teacher of students who cannot hear or see will have to adjust their methods of instruction.

Analyze Your Audience:

-Move those with vision and hearing problems to the front.

-Make sure visual aids are large enough to be seen.

- Use an interpreter for the deaf [sign language], if possible.
- You may need to arrange special assistance for those with other physical handicaps.
- Minister God's healing power to them.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY:

Your audience can consist of unbelievers, new believers, mature believers or a mixture of all three. Paul warns that some people are not ready for "the meat of the Word" [deeper spiritual truths]. People must be fed "the milk" of the Word [basic truths] before moving on to deeper Biblical subjects (I Corinthians 3:1-2).

Analyze Your Audience:

- Will it be mostly unbelievers? This would probably be true in an open air meeting or city-wide crusade. Your message should target unbelievers.
- Is the audience mostly new believers? If so, they will need instruction in basic principles of faith.
- Will it be mostly believers? This might be true of a retreat or special meeting open only to church members. But never assume everyone is a believer. Always give opportunity for people to repent and accept Jesus as Savior.
- What do you know about their spiritual level of maturity?

SEX:

Whether an audience is all male or all female or mixed sexes can affect teaching. For example, a lesson on the Biblical responsibility of husbands to love their wives would be more appropriate for a male audience than a female audience.

Analyze Your Audience:

- Will it be all male?
- Will it be all female?
- Will it be mixed sexes?

MARITAL STATUS:

Married couples have different problems and needs than do single people, divorced, and widowed. People with children face some challenges that childless couples do not.

Analyze Your Audience:

Analyze your audience to determine how many are:

- Single
- Married with children
- Married without children
- Widowed with children
- Widowed without children
- Divorced and not remarried, raising children alone
- Divorced and not remarried, no children
- Divorced and remarried, no children
- Divorced and remarried with children

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC LEVEL:

Adjust your teaching to the economic and social level represented by a majority of the audience. Jesus ministered differently to the woman at the well (John 4) than He did to Nicodemus (John 3). The woman was of a lower economic class. Nicodemus was from the upper class.

Paul said we must be willing to adjust in order to communicate the Gospel:

To the weak I became weak, to win the weak. I have become all things to all people so that by all possible means I might save some.
(I Corinthians 9:22) (See also verses 19-21).

Analyze Your Audience:

- What is the general economic level? Are they upper class, middle class, lower class? Do they have great financial needs?
- What are the occupations? Students, ministry, business and professional workers, retired, housewives, laborers, unemployed?
- Where do they live? Cities, villages, remote areas, poor areas, middle or upper class areas. Are they migrant [move frequently]? Are they homeless?

PERSONAL NEEDS:

It is important to know the physical, mental, spiritual, emotional, and material needs of an audience. This is important in gaining attention, application and in calling for response.

Analyze Your Audience:

Here are some common human needs and problems:

-Spiritual Needs:

- Salvation
- Assurance of salvation
- Sanctification/holiness
- Water baptism
- Baptism of the Holy Spirit
- Healing and deliverance
- Spiritual maturity: For example, gifts of the Spirit, fruits of the Spirit, knowing God's will, dealing with life crises, dealing with temptation, warfare, prayer, being spiritually reproductive, etc.

-Emotional Needs:

- Fear
- Loneliness
- Depression and discouragement
- Bitterness
- Unforgiveness
- Self-concept
- Anger, temper, other disposition problems
- Hatred
- Guilt
- Jealousy
- Rebellion

-Financial Needs:

- Insufficient money to meet basic needs
- Needs employment

-Physical Needs:

- Illness
- Weight problems
- Appearance problems

-Special Problems:

- Divorce
- Suicide tendencies
- Immorality
- Abortion
- Drugs
- Cigarettes
- Alcohol
- Occult
- Prejudice
- Demon oppression/possession
- Grief/dealing with death
- Gossip, complaining, cursing, profanity
- False cults
- Bad habits and practices
- Training of children

B. Mentally:

Mental abilities, attitudes and values have been firmly instilled. Adults are more "set in their ways" and it is harder for them to change. Most adults have a good understanding of their language and culture. Most adults prefer learning concepts to memorizing facts.

Believers need further instruction in spiritual maturity and to become actively involved in the ministry of the church. They need to discover and use their spiritual gifts. Unbelievers need to hear the Gospel and be brought to salvation.

2. What is meant by "audience analysis"?

3. Why is audience analysis important?

4. Summarize steps in analyzing an audience.

5. Select a certain age group you already teach or plan to teach. Review the characteristics for that age group in this lesson. Write a summary about the age group.

2. Analyze an audience you plan to teach.
3. Study the lessons taught by Jesus to Nicodemus in John 3 and to the woman at the well in John
4. One was upper class and intelligent. One was lower class. How did the teaching methods and lesson content differ? How were they alike?

CHAPTER NINE

STATING OBJECTIVES

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define the word "objective".
- Explain the importance of objectives in teaching.
- Write objectives.
- Use a checklist to evaluate objectives.
- Explain the difference between general and specific objectives.
- Identify the final goal of Biblical teaching.

KEY VERSE:

He is the one we proclaim, admonishing and teaching everyone with all wisdom, so that we may present everyone fully mature in Christ.
(Colossians 1:28)

INTRODUCTION

You have learned that true spiritual growth is not measured by what a student hears, but by what he does about what he hears. In this chapter you will learn how to state objectives which will help you determine if students have really understood and are acting upon what they have learned.

OBJECTIVES

An objective is an aim or end of an action. It is a point, goal, or desired outcome to be achieved. When a teacher states objectives, he writes statements of goals for his students. These are stated in terms which describe what the students will be able to do after completing the lesson. The lesson you are currently studying has objectives. Go back to the beginning of the lesson and review these objectives.

THE IMPORTANCE OF OBJECTIVES

Objectives are important because:

1. They direct the teacher's prayers, plans, teaching, and learning activities towards a specific goal. You know exactly what you want to accomplish in each lesson so you can pray, plan, teach and prepare learning activities accordingly.
2. They can be used to measure the effectiveness of teaching. You will be able to tell if students have really learned what you wanted to teach them.
3. They improve your teaching. Because you can measure the effectiveness of your teaching, you can tell when you fail and when you succeed. You can learn from both failure and success and continue to improve your teaching.
4. They help students become doers instead of only hearers of the Word. When you set objectives and communicate them clearly to students before you begin to teach, then they will know what is expected of them.

HOW TO WRITE OBJECTIVES

STATE OBJECTIVES IN TERMS OF STUDENT PERFORMANCE:

Say specifically what you want them to be able to do. Here is an objective stated in terms of student performance:

"Upon conclusion of this lesson the student will be able to explain John 3:16".

Here is an objective that is stated incorrectly:

"I will teach the students John 3:16."

The first objective is stated correctly because it identifies what you want the student to be able to do at the end of the lesson. You can determine if he has learned properly by asking him to explain John 3:16 to you.

The second objective is incorrect. It states what you will do rather than what you want the student to be able to do. How will you know you have properly taught him? The objective gives no way to determine this.

BEGIN EACH OBJECTIVE WITH A VERB:

A verb is an action word that identifies what the outcome should be. Use an opening statement like this:

"Upon completion of this lesson the student will be able to:"

Then list objectives, starting each one with a verb. In the "For Further Study" section of this chapter there is a list of verbs to help you in stating objectives. Here is an example of an objective started with a verb:

"Upon completion of this chapter the student will be able to explain the plan of salvation."

"Explain" is an action word. It tells what you want the student to be able to do as a result of the lesson.

STATE EACH OBJECTIVE INDIVIDUALLY:

State only one learning outcome per objective. Here are some examples:

"Upon completion of this chapter the student will be able to:

Right: Quote John 3:16.

Wrong: Quote and explain John 3:16."

If you want them to explain it also, you should state two separate objectives:

Upon completion of this lesson the student will be able to:

Quote John 3:16

Explain John 3:16

STATE OBJECTIVES IN SEQUENCE:

Each objective should relate to what precedes and/or follows it. For example, "quote John 3:16" is a good objective to list before "explain John 3:16". The student must know it to be able to explain it.

STATE EACH OBJECTIVE IN TERMS OF BEHAVIOR YOU CAN OBSERVE:

Here are some examples:

"Upon completion of this chapter the student will:

Right: Explain John 3:16.

Wrong: Understand John 3:16"

If the student can explain John 3:16 you will know he understands it. If your objective is stated "Understands John 3:16" it is not measurable. It does not state WHAT the student will do to enable you to know if you have met the objective.

MAKE EACH OBJECTIVE ACHIEVABLE:

If you set objectives that are too difficult, students will become discouraged.

CHECKLIST

Use this list of questions to check the objectives you write for your students:

1. Is it written in terms of student performance? Does it say what you expect from the student rather than what you will do?
2. Is it observable? Have you written the objective in terms of behavior you can observe to see if you have accomplished the goal?
3. Is it specific? Does it describe clearly and specifically what is expected of the student.
4. Is it individual? Is there just one learning outcome per objective?
5. Is it sequential? Does it relate to objectives which precede or follow?
6. Is it achievable? Make sure it is not too difficult for the student to achieve.
7. Is it Biblical?

GENERAL AND SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

You will set both general and specific objectives for your students.

GENERAL OBJECTIVES:

General objectives are goals that apply to your teaching in general. They are objectives students should achieve over a period of time. Here are some general objectives that should be basic goals for each teacher. These objectives are set in terms of student behavior that you can observe:

As a result of the lessons I teach, the student will:

Respond To The Gospel:

This objective is easily observed. Does the student repent and turn from sin?

Receive The Baptism Of The Holy Spirit:

The teacher should help lead each student into this experience. The sign of speaking in other tongues and the evidence of power to witness can be observed to see if this goal has been achieved.

Be Baptized In Water:

Students who have been born again should be encouraged to follow Jesus in this public confession of their faith.

Demonstrate Spiritual Fruit:

An important objective of teaching the development of Christ-like character. This would include the spiritual fruit listed in Galatians 5:22-23. It would also include developing a Kingdom lifestyle based on the principles taught by Jesus and further expanded in the Epistles in the New Testament.

Discover Spiritual Gifts:

The Bible reveals that each believer has at least one spiritual gift. It is the responsibility of the Christian teacher to help students discover their spiritual gifts.

Use Spiritual Gifts:

It is not enough just to discover spiritual gifts. The student should be encouraged to use these gifts in the work of the ministry.

Reproduce Spiritually:

The teaching cycle is not complete until the student that is taught reproduces spiritually. See II Timothy 2:2.

Engage In Personal Bible Study:

Fostering personal Bible study is an important general objective. The way you teach the Bible should encourage students to study it on their own. The Harvestime International Institute Course, "Creative Bible Study Methods", can help you teach students various methods of personal Bible study.

Use Bible Research Materials:

If you have access to Bible research materials such as dictionaries, concordances, etc., students should be taught to use these materials. The Harvestime International Institute Course, "Creative Bible Study Methods", will help you teach students how to use such materials.

Pray Regularly:

Students should be taught how to pray regularly both in public and private.

Participate In The Church Fellowship:

Students should become active members of a local church fellowship.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES:

Specific objectives are those you set for each individual lesson you plan to teach. These will vary from lesson to lesson, depending on the subject matter. Review the objectives stated at the beginning of lessons in this manual. Observe how the specific objectives differ in each chapter depending on the lesson content.

THE END GOAL

The Bible reveals the end goal, the final objective for all Biblical teaching:

He is the one we proclaim, admonishing and teaching everyone with all wisdom, so that we may present everyone fully mature in Christ.
(Colossians 1:28)

The final objective of teaching and preaching is to prepare students to stand before God perfected in Christ Jesus.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verse from memory.

2. Define the word "objective".

3. Why are objectives important in teaching?

4. What is the difference between general and specific objectives?

5. Which one of these objectives is stated correctly?

On the conclusion of this lesson the student will:

Example A: Know John 3:16.

Example B: Recite John 3:16.

Example_____is correct.

6. What is the final goal in Biblical teaching?

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

- ___ 2. Is it observable? Have you written the objective in terms of behavior you can observe to see if you have accomplished the goal?

- ___ 3. Is it specific? Does it describe clearly and specifically what is expected of the student.

3. Using the following outline to study the objectives God set for ministry gifts:

EPHESIANS 4:11-16

"And his gifts were that some should be:

- A. The Varieties Of Ministry: Some apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers:
- B. The Task: For the equipping of the saints, for the work of ministry, for building up the Body of Christ,
 - 1. Desired Outcomes: Until we all attain to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, to mature manhood, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ;
 - 2. Possible Attitudes: so that we may no longer be children,
 - a) Undesirable: Tossed to and fro and carried about with every wind of doctrine by cunning of men, by their craftiness in deceitful wiles.
 - b) Desirable: Rather, speaking the truth in love, we are to grow up in every way into Him who is the head, into Christ, from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by every joint with which it is supplied, when each part is working properly, makes bodily growth and builds itself in love.

CHAPTER TEN

LESSON PLANNING

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Identify factors common to every teaching situation.
- Identify parts of a basic teaching plan.
- Summarize steps for planning a lesson.
- Plan a lesson.

KEY VERSE:

The tongue of the wise adorns knowledge, but the mouth of the fool gushes folly. (Proverbs 15:2, TLB)

INTRODUCTION

You have studied the message Jesus taught. You have learned teaching methods, how to use teaching aids, audience analysis, and how to state objectives. You will use all these skills in this chapter as you plan a lesson.

THE TEACHING SITUATION

When you plan a lesson, remember that every teaching situation involves the following common factors:

DIVINE AGENTS:

The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are the divine spiritual agents behind Biblical teaching. The Holy Spirit is the power which enables the teacher to teach and opens the understanding of the student. (Review Chapter Two).

THE TEACHER:

The teacher is the one who knows the truth to be taught:

When Jesus landed and saw a large crowd, he had compassion on them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. So he began teaching them many things. (Mark 6:34)

(Review Chapters One and Two, "A Teacher Come From God").

A STUDENT:

A student is a faithful man or woman who attends with interest to the lesson given. The student learns as he reacts to what he sees, hears, and understands:

With many similar parables Jesus spoke the word to them, as much as they could understand. (Mark 4:33)

The teacher must do more than teach Biblical facts. Facts alone are not meaningful. The student must understand and apply facts. In Matthew 13 in the parable of the sower, the seed which fell by the wayside was snatched away because the hearer did not understand (Matthew 13:19). Students must understand the meaning of what is taught in terms of their own personal experience. (Review Chapter Eight).

LANGUAGE:

The language used to teach must be understood by the student or else a translator must be used. (Review Chapter Eight).

ENVIRONMENT:

People learn best when the lesson is related to their environment. What they learn must be practical and apply to the problems they face in life. The message must minister to the needs created by their home, work, or ministry environments. (See Chapter Eight).

LESSON:

The lesson to be communicated is God's Word, the Bible. The Bible is the basic book of instruction. Other books and materials may be used, but God's Word is the final authority. (Review Chapters Three and Four).

OBJECTIVES:

Each lesson must relate to general and specific spiritual objectives. (Review Chapter Nine).

METHODS:

Every lesson is taught by using methods. (Review Chapters Five and Six).

AN EXAMPLE

Here is an example of the factors of a common teaching situation using John 4:

Divine Agents: Jesus spoke the message of God the Father, empowered by the Holy Spirit.

Teacher: Jesus.

Student: The woman at the well.

Language: Jesus spoke to her in a language she could understand.

Environment: The environment was Jacob's well. Jesus used the environment to present the lesson.

Lesson: God is spirit and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth. Jesus is the source of living water.

Objectives: To lead the woman to realize her real need was not for physical water but for the living water.

Methods: Jesus used a common object [water] as a teaching aid to attract attention. He used a common occasion [coming to draw water] as an opportunity to teach. Jesus used contrasts between natural water and living water. He used conversation, questioning, and reference to tradition. He quoted from the Old Testament and used the present situation to relate to the needs of the woman. He applied the lesson to her life and called for personal response.

LESSON PLANNING

You are now ready to plan a lesson. Follow these steps:

STEP ONE - Prepare Spiritually:

Prepare your heart:

To humans belong the plans of the heart, but from the Lord comes the proper answer of the tongue. (Proverbs 16:1)

Prepare your mind:

If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to you. (James 1:5)

Pray that God will prepare the hearts of the students to receive the Word. Pray for yourself, that God will anoint and enable you to share His Word.

STEP TWO - Study The Lesson:

Read the Bible text for the lesson. Read surrounding passages that give the background of the lesson. Meditate on the passage by slow, thoughtful repetition of reading. Study everything the Bible says on the subject on which you will teach. If you have Bible research materials such as a concordance, word study book, and commentaries, use these for further research:

Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a worker who does not need to be ashamed and who correctly handles the word of truth.
(II Timothy 2:15)

As you study, write down important points and special thoughts the Holy Spirit brings to your mind. You will use these notes to develop an outline of the lesson.

STEP THREE - Analyze The Audience:

Use the skills you learned in Chapter Eight of this course to analyze the audience you will teach.

STEP FOUR - Set Objectives:

Using the study notes you have made and keeping in mind your audience analysis, set objectives for the lesson. (Review Chapter Nine of this course, "Stating Objectives").

STEP FIVE - Outline The Basic Sections Of The Lesson:

There are four basic parts of a plan for teaching a Biblical lesson: The introduction, the body of the lesson, the application, and conclusion. An outline consists of brief written statements that summarize the important truths you want to present in each section of the lesson. An outline is a valuable teaching aid because it helps you stay on the subject as you teach. It also helps you remember important truths you need to teach students. Use the notes you took during your study to develop the teaching outline.

Here is the way to write an outline:

Title: Titles help people remember the subject. They also help the teacher be specific about the purpose of the lesson. Select a title for the lesson that reflects the central truth. Ask yourself, "What am I talking about in this lesson?" Write the title at the beginning of your outline.

Introduction: The introduction is the beginning of the lesson. It is important that the introduction interest the student or he may not continue to listen.

Jesus did not have a standard introduction. He secured the attention of His listeners by several methods. Sometimes He specifically called for it by saying "Verily, verily". When Jesus said "Verily, verily", it was the same as saying "Listen carefully...this is important!"

Jesus also gained attention by starting with a statement of interest to the person He was addressing. For example, He opened the conversation with the woman at the well in John 4 by asking for a drink of water:

When a Samaritan woman came to draw water, Jesus said to her, "Will you give me a drink?" (John 4:7)

She had come to the well to draw water, so He started at her point of interest. The introduction led to a discussion of the spiritual lesson on living water.

If the audience was interested in the law of Moses, then Jesus used this subject for an introduction. If they were concerned about the Kingdom promised to Israel, He would open with a statement on this subject. When you begin a lesson with a statement which interests your listeners, it attracts their attention so you can share the Gospel.

Jesus also used common objects, questions and answers, parables, case histories, Scriptures, contrasts, and problems as introductions to secure attention. He used occasions which were part of the common circumstances of life. He started with what people knew to teach the unknown and led them from general to specific teachings.

An introduction should be:

-Brief: If it is too long, interest may be lost.

-Appealing: It must attract interest of audience; focus on some need or concern.

-Memorable: It should be such that listeners can easily remember it.

-Relevant: The introduction prepares for the truths you will teach; orients listeners to the main idea of the lesson.

Prepare an introduction that will gain the interest of your students. On your outline write out a summary of how you will introduce the lesson.

Body: The "body" of the lesson is the main content of the teaching. In the lesson Jesus taught the woman at the well, the body of His message focused on the living water. It revealed the source of living water, a contrast between living and natural water, the response necessary to receive living water, and the results of drinking of that living water:

-The Source:

Jesus answered her, “If you knew the gift of God and who it is that asks you for a drink, you would have asked him and he would have given you living water.” (John 4:10)

-Contrast Between Living and Natural Water:

Jesus answered, “Everyone who drinks this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks the water I give them will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give them will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” (John 4:13-14)

-The Response Necessary:

She must drink of the water from the spiritual source:

Jesus answered her, “If you knew the gift of God and who it is that asks you for a drink, you would have asked him and he would have given you living water.”
but whoever drinks the water I give them will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give them will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” (John 4:10,14)

-The Results:

but whoever drinks the water I give them will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give them will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life.” (John 4:14)

Here is an easy way to organize the body of a lesson in an outline:

I. First main point.

A. Additional statement on the first main point.

1. Subpoint

2. Subpoint

B. Additional statement on the first main point.

1. Subpoint

C. Additional statement on the first main point.

II. Second main point.

(List statements about the second main point as you did for the first main point.)

Be sure the points are organized in a logical order which follows the Scripture text for the lesson. The main points should relate back to the main idea and the subpoints should relate to their main points. Make good transitions between points by relating each point to the previous one. Continue the outline until you have covered all the main points of the lesson. The number of points you have will vary from lesson to lesson.

Application: When you relate the truths of God's Word to everyday life, it is called "application". You "apply" what you teach to real life situations. After a Biblical truth is taught, it must be applied to the life and ministry of the listener. It must answer this question: "How does this truth affect me?"

In the example of Jesus and the woman at the well, He taught her about living water and then applied the lesson. He told her that this living water could be in her and change her life. He showed her how she could worship the real God in spirit and truth.

Application can be made using any of the teaching methods you learned in Chapters Five and Six. Asking and answering questions is an excellent way to apply truths you have taught. Let the students make applications themselves also.

Applications should be drawn from real life experiences which illustrate the lesson. You can find such illustrations in the Bible, history, biographies of famous people, parables, hymns, by reading books, and through personal observation and experience. People learn best in the context of doing. Students must do if they are to learn:

Now that you know these things, you will be blessed if you do them.
(John 13:17) (Review James 5 also).

"Doing" is application. The application of the lesson can include projects and activities to help students apply truths they have learned. In the teaching outline, write out how you will apply the truths you have taught. Include the methods and activities you will use.

Conclusion: The conclusion ends the lesson. The conclusion of the lesson should include a summary of the main points taught in the body of the lesson. A summary does not have to be a boring rehearsal of facts. You can use any of the methods you learned in Chapters Five and Six to review the lesson. You can include an illustration or quotation, ask questions or give specific direction. Review is important. Jesus often repeated spiritual truths. Use as much repetition as necessary to assure that students understand the lesson.

The conclusion should also include an opportunity for response from the student. When Jesus concluded lessons, He always called for response. At the well, Jesus told the Samaritan woman, "Go call thy husband." This call for response resulted in her confession of sin. It is not enough to just hear the Word. It is not enough just to know how it applies to our lives. We must respond to what we have learned.

Response is possible only when the truth relates to us. This is why the application part of the lesson is important. We must understand how a message applies to us in order to respond to it.

Revelation requires response. Even the fact that God has revealed Himself in the beauties of nature requires response from man:

since what may be known about God is plain to them, because God has made it plain to them.

For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that people are without excuse. (Romans 1:19-20)

Examples of responses to a lesson are accepting Jesus as Savior, coming for prayer to receive healing or the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, confession of a sin, and commitment to Christian service. A call for response must not be based on emotional appeal. Jesus made it clear that to respond to the Gospel would be costly (see Mark 8:34-35).

Decide how you will check to see if the objectives you set are accomplished. Will you test the students? Will you have them do a project or activity using what they learned? Write out a summary of how you will conclude the lesson. Remember to include a call for response. How do you want students to respond to the lesson you have taught?

STEP SIX - Select Methods And Aids:

Select the methods you will use to teach the lesson. Here is a list of the methods you have studied from which to choose:

- Known to unknown
- General to specific
- Object lessons/visual demonstration
- Questions and answers/discussion
- Parables
- Case histories [illustrating what you are teaching]
- Use of Scripture
- Contrasts
- Problems
- Occasions

Be sure the methods you select are appropriate to the audience and to the lesson. Plan teaching aids to use with the lesson and activities which include student participation.

STEP SEVEN - Organize Materials:

Organize the materials you need to teach the lesson. This will include your teaching outline, Bible, written materials for students, teaching aids, and any supplies you need for the activities you have planned.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verse from memory.

2. What are the factors common to every teaching situation?

FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. One of the main objectives in teaching is to lead students to accept Jesus Christ as their personal Savior. This objective is possible even with children. It is only necessary that a child is old enough to understand and make a decision.

-Biblical examples of children coming to God are Joseph, Samuel, Jeremiah, Daniel, John the Baptist and Timothy.

-Conversion occurs on a child's level: Matthew 18:3

-Humility is a quality children have that makes it easier for them to accept the Gospel: Matthew 18:4

-A little child can believe: Matthew 18:6

-To cause a child to stumble spiritually is serious: Matthew 18:6,8

-A child is of great value to God: Matthew 18:10

Jesus was still talking about children when He spoke of the lost sheep which was found: Matthew 18:12,13

-It is not the will of the Father that one child be lost: Matthew 18:14

2. Analyze the common factors in the teaching situation of Jesus and Nicodemus in John 3:

3. Analyze the structure of some messages of Jesus recorded in the Bible. For each, consider these questions:

Introduction: What method did He use to secure attention? How did He introduce the teaching?

Body Of The Message: What were the basic truths He taught? What methods did He use to present them?

Application: How did He apply the Biblical truths to the life or lives of the listeners?

Conclusion: How did Jesus conclude the message? What response did He call for?

CHAPTER ELEVEN

EVALUATION

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define "evaluation".
- Explain why it is important to evaluate teaching.
- List four methods of evaluating Biblical teaching.
- Identify reasons for problems in the teacher/learner situation.
- Recognize problems as opportunities instead of obstacles.

KEY VERSE:

so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless for the day of Christ, (Philippians 1:10)

INTRODUCTION

You have learned how to set objectives, plan, and teach a Biblical lesson using various methods. But how do you know if your teaching is effective? How do you know if spiritual objectives are met and the lives of those you teach experience help and change? The answer to these questions is found in evaluation.

EVALUATION

Evaluation is the process of carefully examining something. When you evaluate your teaching you carefully examine results to see if your ministry is effective. It is important that you evaluate your teaching if you are to improve the gift God has given you. Paul said you are to develop your judgment...

so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless for the day of Christ, (Philippians 1:10)

THE BASIS OF EVALUATION

Evaluation in Biblical teaching is based on the following:

OBJECTIVES:

You can evaluate teaching in terms of objectives. Were the objectives set achieved by the student? You should state objectives that are measurable so you can tell if they are achieved.

Jesus set objectives for His disciples and evaluated the results of their learning experience:

Calling the Twelve to him, he began to send them out two by two and gave them authority over impure spirits.

The apostles gathered around Jesus and reported to him all they had done and taught.

TESTING:

A test is an examination which determines if a student has learned what has been taught. God teaches and tests us through life experiences. Jesus evaluated His disciples through testing:

When Jesus looked up and saw a great crowd coming toward him, he said to Philip, "Where shall we buy bread for these people to eat?"

He asked this only to test him, for he already had in mind what he was going to do. (John 6:5-6)

Formal tests may be written such as the "Self-Tests" in this manual. They may also be oral, where questions are asked verbally and students respond verbally. Informal testing occurs when students confront real life and ministry problems. How students respond in these situations is more important than their response to formal testing.

RESPONSE:

Teaching is also evaluated by the response of students:

-Were students attentive to the lesson?

-Did they respond to the appeal given by the teacher? For example, if the call was for salvation did the unsaved respond? If the call was for healing or baptism in the Holy Spirit, was there response from students? Is spiritual growth evident in response to teaching? Remember: Spiritual growth is not measured by what a student hears but what he does about what he hears.

TEACHER PERFORMANCE:

The performance of the teacher is also part of the evaluation process. Use the checklist in the "For Further Study" section of this lesson to evaluate your teaching.

ANALYZING PROBLEMS

Do not be discouraged if evaluation reveals problems in your teaching. Identifying problems provides opportunity for you to correct them. Even Jesus experienced problems with His students in the teacher/learner relationship. Consider the following:

-Read Luke 9:54-56. When James and John saw Jesus rejected, they wanted to call down fire from Heaven and consume the people. They had totally missed the message of Jesus who said...

Then he and his disciples went to another village. (Luke 9:56)

-When Jesus began to teach that He must die for the sins of mankind, Peter rebuked Him. Jesus had to correct him (Mark 8:31-33).

-Even though Jesus had given authority to cast out devils, the disciples failed in ministering to a demon possessed child (Mark 9:13-28).

-Read Mark 10:35-45. James and John asked Jesus if they might sit by Him in His coming kingdom. The rest of the disciples were displeased with James and John when they heard this. All of them had missed the message Jesus taught:

Not so with you. Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, and whoever wants to be first must be slave of all.

For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.” (Mark 10:43-45)

-The disciples slept in the hour of Christ's greatest need and when He had asked them to pray (Mark 14:32-42).

-One disciple betrayed Jesus, one denied Him, and the remainder fled when He was arrested (Mark 14:43-72).

-The rich young ruler rejected the call of Jesus to discipleship (Mark 10:17-22).

Since Jesus was without sin, problems in His teacher/learner relationship did not rest with Him. The problem was with the students. God does not fail. His Word does not fail. Jesus does not fail. When there are problems in our teacher/learner situations there are only two areas to examine. The problem either rests with the teacher or with the learner.

Here are some common reasons for problems in teacher/learner situations:

THE TEACHER:

Objectives Not Set: None were set, so none were met.

Improper Audience Analysis: The teacher did not relate to the students at the proper cultural, educational, or spiritual level.

Lack Of Proper Preparation: Insufficient time was given to lesson development.

Lack Of Prayer: Insufficient prayer time for students and the lesson.

Improper Methods: The methods were not suitable for the lesson taught, the age group or the culture. The methods did not keep the attention of the audience.

Discipline: Proper discipline was not maintained and students could not concentrate on the lesson.

Improper Presentation: The teacher talked too fast, too slow, not loud enough to be heard or there were communication barriers.

THE STUDENT:

Unbelief: Jesus could not effectively minister in His own city because of unbelief of the audience (Matthew 13:58).

The Seed Of The Word Of God Did Not Fall On Good Ground: Read the parable of the sower in Matthew 13:1-9,18-23. Satan snatched the Word away, it withered when trials came or the cares of the world caused it to die.

Inattention: The student did not pay attention because of distractions or discipline problems. They allowed Satan to snatch the Word from the good soil of their hearts (Matthew 13:19).

Refusal To Respond: The student did not become a doer of the Word. He heard the Word and did not reject the Word itself but refused to put it into practice in his life (Review James 1:22-25). This was the problem of the rich young ruler who refused the Lord's call to discipleship (Mark 10:17-22).

Rejection Of The Message: The student rejected the message. This was the problem when some disciples of Jesus turned back from following Him (John 6:53-66).

USING PROBLEMS

Do not be discouraged by problems in the teaching situation. Use them as opportunities to learn and improve your teaching tactics. Problems can be corrected through prayer and change. The teacher can change to correct some problems. Students can change to correct others.

Jesus did not give up on His disciples. He did not become discouraged by their faults and failures. He saw them as what they could become when they allowed the Holy Spirit to work in their lives. In the end, they proved worthy of this confidence. In the book of Acts we find these doubting, fearful, denying men emerging as the great leaders of the first Church.

You can view problems as either opportunities or obstacles. If you consider problems as obstacles, you will become discouraged and quit. If you consider them as opportunities, you will grow spiritually and improve your skills in Biblical teaching.

1. Write the Key Verse from memory.

2. Define "evaluation".

3. Why is it important to evaluate your teaching?

4. List four methods of evaluating Biblical teaching.

5. Summarize the common reasons for problems in the teacher/ learner situation.

EVALUATING YOUR TEACHING

Evaluate yourself as a teacher. Read each question and circle the number which you feel is most accurate. Add up the total of the circled numbers. A score of 85 and above would be an excellent score and 40 and below would be a poor score. In between would range from fair (41-60) to good (61-84). Numbers indicate: 1=never 2=rarely 3=sometimes 4=often 5=always

CHAPTER TWELVE

CURRICULUM SELECTION AND DEVELOPMENT

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define "Biblical curriculum".
- Explain the value of Biblical curriculum.
- Select appropriate curriculum.
- Develop your own Biblical curriculum.

KEY VERSES:

All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness,

so that the servant of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work.
(II Timothy 3:16-17)

INTRODUCTION

The Bible is the basis for all instruction in the church. But Christian writers have developed some excellent materials that can assist in organizing training for one group or several groups of students. This lesson concerns the selection of Biblical curriculum.

BIBLICAL CURRICULUM

The word "curriculum" refers to an organized course of study. It can refer to one course or all the courses used in a school. "Biblical curriculum" is an organized course of study of Biblical subject matter.

THE VALUE OF BIBLICAL CURRICULUM

Biblical curriculum is a valuable tool in Christian teaching. Here are some reasons:

-It provides more research and background material than you may have access to or have time to prepare.

-It provides written lessons and activities for students.

- It provides an outline for teaching a lesson.
- It provides suggestions for how to teach the lesson.
- Some curriculum provides written objectives for each lesson.
- Most curriculum is prepared for specific age levels. It is written by people who are trained in working with that particular age group.
- An organized curriculum program provides wider coverage of Biblical truths. Most teachers tend to focus on certain portions of the Bible which they enjoy or feel comfortable teaching. Organized programs of curriculum cover the entire Bible over a period of time.
- It provides a way to organize teaching for many age groups in a local church.

CURRICULUM SELECTION

The most important thing to remember in curriculum selection is that curriculum written by man is not our final authority. The Bible is the one and only authority for the Christian teacher. Curriculum must be carefully examined to be sure it is doctrinally sound.

Here is how to obtain and select curriculum:

1. If your local church is part of an organized denomination, they may publish their own curriculum. Write to your denominational headquarters to obtain samples. Remember to consider Harvestime International Institute materials for your training program for adults. Write to us for information.
2. While you are waiting for the materials to arrive, write general objectives for your total teaching program. (Use the skills you learned in Chapter Nine of this course). What are your general spiritual objectives for the groups for which you are obtaining materials? You will need to know these objectives in order to evaluate the curriculum to see if it meets these spiritual purposes.
3. When you receive the sample materials, use the checklist in this chapter to evaluate the material. If others will be teaching this curriculum, have them assist you in reviewing the sample materials.
4. After you select the curriculum you want to use, prepare and mail the order. Use the order form the publisher will enclose with the sample package. Be sure to include the correct payment for the materials. Keep a copy of your order so you can verify that you receive what you ordered.

5. When the order arrives, immediately open the materials to make sure they have sent exactly what you ordered. Compare your copy of the original order to what they actually sent. If there are errors made in filling your order, notify the publisher immediately.
6. You may need to train others in how to use the curriculum. Chapter Fourteen in this course, "Teacher Training", will assist you in doing this.
7. Store the material in a safe place until you are ready to use it.

DEVELOP BIBLICAL CURRICULUM

If you do not have funds to purchase curriculum, develop it yourself. In Chapter Ten of this course you learned how to plan a Biblical lesson. Use these skills to develop a series of such lessons. Write these lessons out in detail. Eventually, you will have developed your own training course. Take the series of lessons you have written and evaluate them using the evaluation chart in this chapter. The chart will help you identify ways to improve the materials you have prepared.

It is slower to develop Biblical curriculum than to purchase it, but there are some advantages:

- You can design it specifically for the audience or culture for which you intend to use it.
- You can be certain of its doctrinal content.
- You can prepare it to meet specific spiritual objectives.

CURRICULUM EVALUATION CHECKLIST

Use this evaluation checklist when reviewing curriculum materials:

TEACHER'S MATERIALS:

Objectives:

- What are the stated objectives?
- Are they similar to the objectives you have set for teaching/learning?
- Are they specific enough so that you can know when you have accomplished them?

Content:

- Is the content doctrinally sound?
- Is it appropriate for your culture?
- Is the Biblical content appropriate for the learners at the age at which they will be using it?
- Is the interpretation of the Biblical material appropriate for the age at which it will be used? (Not too simple for older learners or too difficult for younger learners).

- Does the material help learners understand what it means to be part of the Christian community, its worship, structure, beliefs, history, mission?
- Does content support your church program?

Life Experience:

- How does the material interpret the meaning of the Christian life? To what extent is this in agreement with your objectives?
- How does the material relate Christian living to Biblical learning?
- Does the material give opportunities to practice and reflect upon actions that express a Christian lifestyle?
- How does the material relate Christianity to living in family, school, community, world, and environment?

Format:

- Is the format of the book attractive?
- Is each session clearly outlined so that a teacher can easily understand the steps for teaching?
- Are there particular features that help the teacher grasp the outline?
- What methods for teaching are suggested? With which of these are the teachers comfortable? Which new ones could be easily learned?
- Are instructions for activities clear and easy to follow?
- What resources are suggested for use beyond those in the book? Which of these are essential? Which could be easily obtained?
- Does the teacher's book include helpful material about the age and learning levels of those in the class?
- Is there background material about the lesson content so that teachers' information will be enriched?

STUDENT'S MATERIALS:

Reading Book:

- Is it attractively illustrated [from a child's viewpoint]?
- Is the print easy to read for a child?
- Would the style and language attract a child's interest?
- Is the story within a child's understanding?

Workbook:

- Would the exercises be interesting to children?
- Are they too difficult? too easy?
- Would they enrich the understanding of the lesson? How?

-Would they be helpful enough for the cost involved? Or would it be better to develop activities specifically for the class?

Activity Packet:

- Which activities are most likely to be used? How often?
- Critically speaking, what is the quality of each item: poster, picture, filmstrip, etc.?
- Will children find the suggested activities useful, or could similar activities be constructed with little effort and less expense?

Take-home Paper:

- What is the purpose of this paper as evidenced by its design and content?
- Would it reinforce the lesson for use at home?
- Would it enrich the material used in class?
- Would it be a link between absentees and the class?
- How valuable would it be as a contact with the families of children present in class? Of those who were absent?
- Is it worth the price? Why or why not?

GENERAL PLAN OF CURRICULUM:

- What are the goals over a six, eight, or twelve-year span?
- List the basic content of each unit of the twelve-year span.
- Note the "flow" of the material:
 - How is Biblical material used: chronologically? topically? other?
 - What are the advantages/disadvantages of this design?
 - Where do repetitions of material occur?
 - Do these reinforce learning? deepen insights? fill space?
 - Are units planned for seasonal emphasis? Are these useful?
- Is the cost within the budget of your congregation? Is the program within the teaching skills of your teachers?
- Is there space for additions or substitutions for special studies without disrupting the pattern [such as missions project, worship, stewardship]?

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verses from memory.

2. Define "Biblical curriculum".

3. What is the value of Biblical curriculum?

4. How can you develop your own curriculum?

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. Most Biblical curriculum publishers follow a plan in their literature. Study the following information on how modern curriculum is planned:

MODERN CURRICULUM PLANS

Here are the four basic plans evangelical publishers follow in grading their lesson materials. To evaluate curriculum, you need to study the advantages and disadvantages of each curriculum plan in terms of your own needs and objectives:

UNIFORM GRADING:

How The Curriculum Is Organized:

The same Bible portion is taught to each age-group.

Advantages:

1. A small church can unite all pupils in a single lesson-related worship service.
2. All family members can discuss their common lesson at home.

Disadvantages:

1. Lessons are repeated on a 5-7 year cycle, provide limited Bible coverage.
2. Bible content often not suitable for pupils of all ages.

UNIFIED GRADING:

How The Curriculum Is Organized:

Different Bible content, related by a single theme, is taught to each age-group.

Advantages:

1. Several age-groups can meet in a single theme-related worship service.
2. At-home discussion of the theme is possible.

Disadvantages:

1. Limited number of themes make it difficult to give complete Bible coverage.
2. Lessons taught in each department determined by theme, rather than pupils' needs.

DEPARTMENT GRADING:

How The Curriculum Is Organized:

Different Bible content is provided for each age group.

Advantages:

1. All activities are closely related to the Bible lesson in each group.
2. Lessons can be geared to the social, psychological, emotional and mental level of all pupils.

Disadvantages:

1. Common at-home discussion is limited, since parents and children study different material.

CLOSE GRADING:

How The Curriculum Is Organized:

Different Bible content is provided for pupils of each age.

Advantages:

1. Curriculum can be planned to fit the stage of development of pupils.

Disadvantages:

1. At-home discussion limited.
2. Hard to relate all activities to a common theme, since each age has a different lesson.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

TEACHING ILLITERATE STUDENTS

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Identify illiterate students.
- Summarize guidelines for teaching illiterate students.

KEY VERSE:

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom,
and knowledge of the Holy One is understanding. (Proverbs 9:10)

INTRODUCTION

Some teachers face the challenge of teaching illiterate students. An illiterate student is one who does not read or write his language. If you plan to teach illiterate students, you need to study this lesson. If you do not plan to teach illiterate students, you may skip this lesson and go on to Chapter Fourteen.

CAN THEY BE TAUGHT?

A person does not have to know how to read and write in order to learn. For example, language is a difficult skill to acquire, yet children learn to speak their native language without knowing how to read and write. It is possible to teach illiterate students the truths of God's Word even though they cannot read it for themselves.

One of God's first commands to pass on His Word was to do it verbally:

These commandments that I give you today are to be on your hearts.

Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up.
(Deuteronomy 6:6-7)

Jesus taught without using written material. He never handed out written lessons or had His students read passages from the Bible.

We can assume that Jesus taught people who were illiterate because His audiences included the poor who did not have access to education. These people did not read or write lessons Jesus taught. They relied on oral communication to learn.

If you are to teach the Gospel to every person, then you must have a plan to reach the illiterate. You cannot reach everyone with the written message of God's Word and you cannot assume they must learn to read before they can be reached with the Gospel.

Learning about God is not dependent upon education as much as it is heart attitude:

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom,
and knowledge of the Holy One is understanding. (Proverbs 9:10)

TEACHING ILLITERATE STUDENTS

Here are some guidelines for teaching illiterate students:

WORK THROUGH CULTURAL LEADERS:

Illiterate people listen to and obey their leaders. If you can get the leaders to accept the message, it will be more easily communicated to the people. Once the leaders have accepted the message, they can communicate it easily to others because they are used to communicating without written materials.

RELATE THE MESSAGE TO THE CULTURE:

You have learned that a message must be related to the listener to gain attention, make application, and achieve the proper response. Study the culture of the illiterate person. What are the concerns of their everyday life? What are the problems and challenges they face in their culture? Your message must be related to these concerns to gain attention, make proper application, and achieve response from the people.

RELATE TEACHING METHODS TO THE CULTURE:

Most cultures have a traditional method of passing information from person to person. Some cultures do it through story telling. Others do it through songs and music that communicate their message. Study the culture to see how messages are best communicated. Identify methods commonly used in their culture and use them to teach Biblical truths.

USE THE ENVIRONMENT:

Use the environment of the illiterate person. Select simple objects from their own culture to use as teaching aids. Remember how Jesus used stones, flowers, seed, birds, fish, candles, and buildings? You may need to create modern parables to illustrate truths. Jesus used parables that focused on fishing, planting and harvesting, etc., because His audience understood these things. Your audience may not understand these illustrations. Study the environment of the illiterate person you are teaching. Use their environment to create modern parables which illustrate Biblical truths.

REPEAT SIMPLE PRINCIPLES:

Keep the lessons simple. Present simple, basic principles. Repeat these basic points several times to make sure the students have understood them. Have the students repeat the basic truths orally themselves.

SUMMARIZE:

Present a brief statement at the conclusion of the lesson which summarizes the main truth you have been teaching. For example, in teaching the born-again experience of John 3 you could state at the conclusion: "You must be born again. It is a spiritual birth, not a physical one. You are born again spiritually by repenting of your sin and accepting Jesus as your Savior."

ASK QUESTIONS:

When you are finished teaching a lesson, ask questions to be sure the basic principles of the lesson have been understood.

CALL FOR RESPONSE:

One way to be sure the students have understood the message is to call for a response. For example, at the conclusion of a lesson on John 3, ask "How many of you would like to experience this new birth?"

THE BIBLE: GOD'S BOOK

The Bible is a written message which God directed men to write. It is a book that contains His Words. His desire is for all men to be able to read it. For this reason, many Christian leaders have become involved in literacy training. This is a program which teaches illiterate people how to read and write so they will be able to read God's message for themselves.

If you are interested in doing this, see the "For Further Study" section of this chapter. But remember, it is not necessary for a person to be able to read and write to respond to the Gospel.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verse from memory.

2. Define the term "illiterate".

3. Summarize guidelines given in this lesson for teaching illiterate students.

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

1. Find someone who is illiterate and share the Gospel with them using the guidelines given in this chapter.
2. If you are interested in starting a literacy program to help people learn to read and write in their own language, contact the Laubauch Literacy Society in your nation and ask for information.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

TEACHER TRAINING

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Identify two basic needs for teacher training.
- Summarize steps for planning a teacher training program.
- Explain how to recruit students for a teacher training program.
- Summarize guidelines for conducting teacher training sessions.
- Summarize guidelines for placing trained teachers in the church.
- List ways a teacher may be evaluated.

KEY VERSE:

For I gave them the words you gave me and they accepted them. They knew with certainty that I came from you, and they believed that you sent me.
(John 17:8)

INTRODUCTION

Jesus trained the disciples and upon conclusion of the training said...

For I gave them the words you gave me and they accepted them. They knew with certainty that I came from you, and they believed that you sent me.
(John 17:8)

The Biblical plan of spiritual multiplication is teaching faithful men who are able to teach others also (II Timothy 2:2). If you are to fulfill this plan, you must constantly be training teachers. This lesson concerns the subject of teacher training. In this chapter, two basic needs for teacher training are discussed and practical steps are given for planning a training program. Guidelines are also given on how to recruit students for the training, how to conduct the sessions, and for placing trained teachers in the church.

TWO BASIC TRAINING NEEDS

There are two basic needs for teacher training in the church; pre-service and in-service training.

PRE-SERVICE TRAINING:

Pre-service training is training given before a believer begins to serve in the church as a teacher.

It is a program of study that will help him learn how to teach.

IN-SERVICE TRAINING:

In-service training is given to those already serving as teachers in the church. The training helps them further develop their teaching gift. Jesus provided both types of training for His disciples.

PLANNING A TEACHER TRAINING PROGRAM

Here are steps for planning a teacher training program in your church:

1. Enlist the cooperation of the pastor or spiritual leader of the church.
2. Ask people who are already effective teachers to assist as leaders who will teach others.
3. Meet with these leaders to set:

- Objectives for the training program: Determine the needs of current teachers and potential teachers. State the objectives you want to accomplish in the training program.

- Dates, times, and place for training.

- Leaders who will teach in the training program: Who will teach what and when?

- Entrance requirements for the program: Who will you permit to attend? They must be born-again believers, of course, but you may have other requirements you want to set. (See suggestions in the "For Further Study" section of this chapter).

- Standards required for completion of the program: What is required of them to complete the training? (For suggestions, see the "For Further Study" section of this lesson).

- Type of training event: See the "For Further Study" section of this lesson for various types of training events.

- Budget [expenses] for teacher training: How much will it cost? Where will the funds come from?

- Training materials to be used: This course can be used to train teachers. You may want to supplement it with training unique to your denomination and/or the curriculum you plan to use.

4. Prepare a calendar for the year and list all training sessions on it. Include the dates, times, and places.

5. Prepare a ministry description for teachers. This will identify the responsibilities of a teacher for those who are considering enlisting in the training. (See the "For Further Study" section of this lesson for a sample ministry description).
6. Prepare a teacher's pledge for potential teachers to sign. This is a document that identifies the commitment of the teacher. (See the "For Further Study" section of this lesson for a sample pledge).

RECRUITING FOR THE TRAINING PROGRAM

Here are steps for recruiting people for the teacher training program:

1. Invite current teachers for in-service training.
2. Make an announcement in church services regarding the training. Ask potential teachers who are interested to contact you.
3. Make personal contact with those you know or have observed and whom you believe have the spiritual gift of teaching.
4. Review applicants who are not already teaching to be certain they meet the entrance requirements you have set for the teacher training program.
5. Notify all who qualify of the date, time and place of the first session.

CONDUCTING THE TRAINING

Here are some guidelines for conducting teacher training sessions:

1. Start each session on time.
2. Begin with prayer that the Holy Spirit will anoint the teachers and will open the hearts and minds of students to learn.
3. Take attendance. Students should be required to attend a certain number of class sessions in order to complete the course.
4. Make sure each student has a copy of any written materials concerning the lesson to be taught.
5. Have all necessary supplies on hand to teach the lesson. These might include visual aids, a teaching manual, and similar items. Use teaching methods you have learned in this course.

6. Allow time for questions and answers about the material you have taught in the session.
7. Give assignments for students to complete prior to the next meeting. These might include reading, writing, or teaching assignments.
8. Unless the Holy Spirit moves differently, keep within the time set for the class. Dismiss students on time.

PLACING TEACHERS

Teacher training is not effective unless those you train are actually used in a teaching position. Here are some guidelines for placing teachers in the church educational program:

CONSULT THE PASTOR:

Where does he have need for teachers? Where does he believe an individual would be most effective? The Pastor is the leader God has set in the church. He is responsible for the teaching program in the church. He is also responsible for guiding the gifts and talents of those who are part of the church.

PLACE ACCORDING TO CALL AND ABILITIES:

Consider the abilities of the person being placed. Will they be effective in the group they are to teach? Has God given them a special call to this particular group? For example, the Apostle Paul was effective with Gentile people because of the call God gave Him and his personal background and abilities.

PLACE ACCORDING TO AGE INTEREST:

Some people have no interest in teaching children. Others are not at ease with adults. All ages need to be taught, but a teacher should have either an interest and/or a call to work with a specific age group.

ALLOW OPPORTUNITIES FOR PRACTICE TEACHING:

Let the new teacher serve first as a substitute teacher when the regular teacher cannot be present. Then let them teach several lessons with an experienced teacher observing. After the lesson, the observer can privately share helpful suggestions with the new teacher.

TEACHER EVALUATION

After a teacher is serving in the church, their ministry should be evaluated periodically. Jesus did this with His disciples after He sent them out to minister. They reported back all they had said and done (Mark 6:7 and 30). Evaluation helps identify and correct problems in teaching. It gives an opportunity for spiritual leaders of the church to assist teachers in further developing their spiritual gift of teaching.

Here are some ways to evaluate a teacher:

1. The teacher may be evaluated using the evaluation skills learned in Chapter Eleven of this course. Have each teacher do a self-evaluation, then review the results with them.
2. Evaluate on the basis of the ministry description: Are they fulfilling the requirements of the ministry description for their teaching position?
3. Are they keeping the commitment of the teacher's pledge which they signed?
4. Observe the teacher actually teaching a lesson. Are they effectively communicating God's Word to their students? What can they do to improve the way they present the lesson? Share some positive suggestions with them.
5. Evaluate the "fruit". The Bible says that "fruit" [results of ministry] can be observed (Luke 6:43-44).

Remember: Evaluation and correction of problems should always be done in a loving and positive way.

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verse from memory.

2. What are the two basic needs for teacher training?

3. Summarize steps for planning a teacher training program.

4. How can you recruit students for the teacher training program?

5. Summarize guidelines for conducting teacher training sessions.

6. Summarize guidelines for placing trained teachers in the church.

7. List five ways to evaluate a teacher.

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

The following guide summarizes what you learned in this lesson. You can use it to plan a teacher training program:

1. List the objectives of your training program:

2. Schedule the dates, times, and places on a master calendar for the year. (Use a calendar to do this).

3. Establish entrance requirements for the program. An applicant should:

- Be a born-again believer.
- Have followed the example of Christ in water baptism.
- Be Spirit-filled.
- Attend church services regularly (and/or be a member of the church).
- Have a good reputation in church and community.
- Meet Biblical qualifications for leaders.
- Demonstrate fruit of the Holy Spirit and Christ-like behavior in daily living.

4. Set standards for completion of program. Here are some suggestions:

Applicants must:

- Attend all training sessions unless excused due to illness or emergency approved by class leader.
- Complete all class assignments.
- Practice teach at least one lesson with a leader observing.

5. Determine the type of teacher training event. Here are some suggestions:

-Brief training as part of regular teachers' meeting: If the teachers of the church meet regularly, use part of each meeting for in-service training.

-During Sunday School hour: If your church has a Sunday School hour, train new teachers in a special class conducted during this time.

-Self-instruction: Give potential teachers a copy of this manual and have them complete the lessons in individual study.

-One-night training: Meet one night a week to train.

-Series: Meet in a series of meetings for training. For example, Monday through Friday of a certain week.

-Retreat: Take teachers to a camp or retreat for training.

-One-to-one: Assign an experienced teacher to train a new teacher on a one-to-one basis.

-United training: Perhaps several churches in the community may want to plan a united training event where all the teachers of their denomination come together for fellowship and training.

-Audio-visual training: If you have audio tape or video tape facilities, record the training and let students study independently.

6. Select the leaders who will teach, what areas they will cover, and when they will teach. Make a chart with the following headings:

Name	Dates	Subjects
------	-------	----------

7. What training materials will you use?

Name of training course: _____

Publisher's Name/Address: _____

(Don't forget... You can use this manual by Harvestime to train teachers.)

8. Prepare a budget:

What will it cost to advertise the program? $ _____

What will the training materials cost? $ _____

Other expenses: $ _____

9. Prepare a ministry description of responsibilities for potential teachers. Here is an example to follow:

SAMPLE MINISTRY DESCRIPTION

Adult Class Teacher

Ministry Title: Adult class teacher.

Ministry Description: The adult class Bible study teacher will assume personal responsibility for:

-Preparing for and teaching the weekly class session.

Day_____Time_____Place_____

-Recruiting new members to join the class.

-Contacting absentee students and inactive members to determine problems, minister, and reinstate as active members.

-Winning unsaved members to the Lord Jesus Christ.

-Ministering to the spiritual needs of class members who are already believers, leading them in spiritual growth and development, equipping them for the work of the ministry.

-Encouraging class members to become an active part of the total church fellowship.

-Completing any required church records pertaining to this class ,i.e., attendance records, etc.

Personal Requirements:

-Called of God to this specific ministry.

-Meet Biblical leadership qualifications.

-Completion of teacher training course offered by this church.

-Ability to communicate effectively.

-Active member of this church fellowship.

-In agreement with the doctrinal position of this church.

-Supportive and in harmony with church leadership.

Time Commitment:

-Personal preparation time for regular class meeting.

-Regular class meeting time: Two hours weekly.

-Monthly staff meeting.

-Annual in-service teacher's training class.

-Time for personal association, fellowship, follow-up, and ministry to students.

10. Prepare a teacher's pledge of commitment. Here is an example to follow:

TEACHER'S COMMITMENT

Having received Jesus Christ as personal Savior, and now living in fellowship with Him, I realize that ministering Christ and His word to others is a high calling. In view of my commission as a teacher and relying on the help and guidance of the Holy Spirit, I pledge that:

- I agree with the doctrinal statement of my church, and will teach nothing in conflict with it.
- I will daily set aside time for prayer and Bible study.
- I will earnestly pray for the conversion of my students and for the spiritual growth of those who are Christians.
- I will faithfully spend time preparing each lesson, and will prepare myself spiritually by living the truths I teach.
- I will be faithful in my teaching position in the church.
- I will teach in class from God's Word, promote study of the Bible by my students and encourage their active participation in class.
- I will faithfully attend and promote the services of our church, and will support the church financially and with my prayers.
- I will attend any meetings of the church department, unless hindered by some reason I can conscientiously give to God.
- If for some reason I cannot fulfill my responsibilities, I will consult with my leaders and surrender my class if that seems advisable.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

AN INTRODUCTION TO PREACHING

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Define preaching.
- Identify subjects upon which Biblical preaching should focus.
- Explain the importance of demonstrating God's power when preaching the Word.
- Identify six Biblical warnings regarding preaching.

KEY VERSES:

How, then, can they call on the one they have not believed in? And how can they believe in the one of whom they have not heard? And how can they hear without someone preaching to them?

And how can anyone preach unless they are sent? As it is written: "How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!" (Romans 10:14-15a)

INTRODUCTION

This chapter introduces the subject of Biblical preaching. It defines preaching, identifies the subjects of Biblical preaching, explains the importance of the demonstration of God's power when preaching, and identifies Biblical warnings regarding preaching. In the next chapter you will learn how to plan a Biblical sermon.

TEACHING AND PREACHING

You learned the definition of "teaching" in Chapter One of this course:

Teaching is the act of instructing others. It includes showing, demonstrating, informing, imparting knowledge, training, and guiding the studies of another.

Here is the definition of "preaching":

Preaching is the act of delivering a discourse [a sermon or systematic examination of a subject] which instructs others in a formal manner.

Preaching and teaching are similar, in that they both communicate the truths of God's Word to others. You will learn in the next chapter that preparing a sermon is similar to preparing a lesson to teach. But preaching and teaching usually differ in the methods of instruction used and the style of delivery.

COMBINING PREACHING AND TEACHING

The effective sharing of the Gospel combines both preaching and teaching. Jesus taught and preached:

Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness. (Matthew 9:35)

(See also Matthew 4:17,23; 9:35; 11:1,5; Mark 1:14,38-39; 2:2; Luke 4:43-44; 9:6; 20:1; I Peter 3:19; 4:6).

One of the main missions of Jesus was to preach:

“The Spirit of the Lord is on me,
because he has anointed me
to proclaim good news to the poor.
He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind,
to set the oppressed free,
to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favor.”(Luke 4:18-19)

Jesus died in order that repentance and remission of sins could be preached:

He told them, “This is what is written: The Messiah will suffer and rise from the dead on the third day, and repentance for the forgiveness of sins will be preached in his name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. (Luke 24:46-47)

THE COMMISSION TO PREACH

The disciples were commissioned by Jesus to preach:

He appointed twelve[a] that they might be with him and that he might send them out to preach (Mark 3:14)

As you go, proclaim this message: ‘The kingdom of heaven has come near.’ (Matthew 10:7) (See also Matthew 10:27; Luke 9:2,60).

The goal of the early church was to preach the Gospel to those who had not yet heard it:

so that we can preach the gospel in the regions beyond you. For we do not want to boast about work already done in someone else’s territory. (II Corinthians 10:16)

Like teaching, preaching was not confined just to the formal church setting:

Day after day, in the temple courts and from house to house, they never stopped teaching and proclaiming the good news that Jesus is the Messiah.(Acts 5:42)

Neither was preaching confined to just the full-time pastors or ministers. Believers in the first church were scattered because of persecution and...

Those who had been scattered preached the word wherever they went. (Acts 8:4) (See also Acts 11:19-20).

As believers, we also are commissioned to preach the Gospel to the nations of the world:

And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come. (Matthew 24:14)

He said to them, “Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation. (Mark 16:15)

THE SUBJECT OF PREACHING

Like teaching, preaching should always be based on God's Word. For example, in the sermon of Peter in Acts 2, 12 of the 23 verses were quotations from Old Testament Scripture.

Biblical preaching should focus on:

REPENTANCE AND FORGIVENESS OF SINS:

and repentance for the forgiveness of sins will be preached in his name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. (Luke 24:47)

They went out and preached that people should repent. (Mark 6:12)
(See also Acts 13:38; 14:15).

THE GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM OF GOD:

And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come. (Matthew 24:14)

(See also Matthew 9:35; 11:5; Mark 1:14; 16:15; Luke 4:18; Acts 8:12; 14:7,21; 16:10; 20:25; Romans 1:15; 15:19-20; I Corinthians 15:1; II Corinthians 2:12; 10:14; 11:7; Colossians 1:23; I Thessalonians 2:9).

THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD:

They were greatly disturbed because the apostles were teaching the people, proclaiming in Jesus the resurrection of the dead. (Acts 4:2)
(See also Acts 17:3,18).

THE WORD OF GOD:

They gathered in such large numbers that there was no room left, not even outside the door, and he preached the word to them. (Mark 2:2)

but the word of the Lord endures forever.”
And this is the word that was preached to you. (I Peter 1:25)

(See also Acts 8:4,25; 13:5; 14:25; 15:35-36; 17:13; II Timothy 4:2; Titus 1:3).

THE WORD OF FAITH:

But what does it say? “The word is near you; it is in your mouth and in your heart,” that is, the message concerning faith that we proclaim: (Romans 10:8) (See also Galatians 1:23).

ALL THINGS CONCERNING JESUS:

He proclaimed the kingdom of God and taught about the Lord Jesus Christ—with all boldness and without hindrance! (Acts 28:31)

Although I am less than the least of all the Lord’s people, this grace was given me: to preach to the Gentiles the boundless riches of Christ, (Ephesians 3:8) (See also Acts 5:42; 8:5,35; 9:20; 17:3,18; Romans 16:25; II Corinthians 1:19; 4:5; Colossians 1:28).

PEACE THROUGH JESUS CHRIST:

You know the message God sent to the people of Israel, announcing the good news of peace through Jesus Christ, who is Lord of all. (Acts 10:36)
(See also Ephesians 2:17).

THE CROSS:

For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.
(I Corinthians 1:18) (See also I Corinthians 1:17-22).

THE DEMONSTRATION OF POWER

The demonstration of God's power is to accompany preaching as well as teaching:

Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness. (Matthew 9:35)

Paul said:

My message and my preaching were not with wise and persuasive words, but with a demonstration of the Spirit's power, so that your faith might not rest on human wisdom, but on God's power. (I Corinthians 2:4-5) (See Mark 1:39; Luke 9:6; Romans 15:19; I Corinthians 1:17-18).

The demonstration of power is important because it confirms the preaching of the Word:

Then the disciples went out and preached everywhere, and the Lord worked with them and confirmed his word by the signs that accompanied it. (Mark 16:20)

THE PREACHER

Earlier in this course we discussed personal qualities that should be evident in the life of a teacher. These same qualities should also be in the life of one who preaches the Gospel. Colossians chapter 1 identifies three additional qualities of a preacher of the Gospel:

HE IS A MINISTER OF CHRIST:

"A faithful minister of Christ" (Verse 7). Christ must be exalted in all his preaching.

HE IS A MINISTER OF THE GOSPEL:

"The Gospel...whereof I, Paul, am made a minister" (Verse 23).

HE IS A MINISTER OF THE CHURCH:

"...The church, whereof I am made a minister" (Verses 24-25).

BIBLICAL WARNINGS

Here are four Biblical warnings regarding preaching:

PREACHERS MUST LIVE WHAT THEY PREACH:

you, then, who teach others, do you not teach yourself? You who preach against stealing, do you steal? (Romans 2:21)

No, I strike a blow to my body and make it my slave so that after I have preached to others, I myself will not be disqualified for the prize. (I Corinthians 9:27)

IF YOU ARE CALLED TO PREACH, IT IS NOT AN OPTION:

Preaching is not an option for those specifically called by God to do so:

For when I preach the gospel, I cannot boast, since I am compelled to preach. Woe to me if I do not preach the gospel! (I Corinthians 9:16)

PREACHING MUST BE BASED ON GOD'S WORD:

But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach a gospel other than the one we preached to you, let them be under God's curse!

As we have already said, so now I say again: If anybody is preaching to you a gospel other than what you accepted, let them be under God's curse! (Galatians 1:8-9) (See also II Corinthians 11:4).

MOTIVES MUST BE RIGHT:

Paul discusses motives for preaching the Gospel in Philippians 1:15-18. Read this passage in your Bible. Paul noted that...

It is true that some preach Christ out of envy and rivalry, but others out of goodwill. (Philippians 1:15)

SELF-TEST

1. Write the Key Verses from memory.

2. Define "preaching".

4. List four Biblical warnings regarding preaching which were discussed in this lesson.

5. Why is the demonstration of God's power important when preaching the Word?

(Answers to self-tests are provided at the conclusion of the final chapter in this manual.)

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

PLANNING A SERMON

OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this chapter you will be able to:

- Summarize basic steps for planning a sermon.
- Define topical preaching.
- Define textual preaching.
- Define expository preaching.
- Plan a sermon to preach.

KEY VERSE:

Preach the word; be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke and encourage—with great patience and careful instruction.
(II Timothy 4:2)

INTRODUCTION

In this lesson you will learn how to preach a Biblical sermon. You will learn basic principles of preaching by studying some of the sermons in the Bible and some of the most effective sermons of great preachers throughout church history. You will discover that preaching and teaching are similar in many ways but differ in methods of presentation and style of delivery.

PREACHING AND TEACHING: HOW THEY DIFFER

Preaching and teaching usually differ in the following ways:

THE METHODS:

Methods which call for audience participation are not commonly used in preaching. For example, there is usually no discussion or question and answer period when you preach. The reason is that preaching usually involves a larger audience. Because of this, the method of presentation is more formal.

THE STYLE OF DELIVERY:

In teaching, people are often divided by age groups. The class is all adults, young people, or children. Preaching usually involves a group of people of various ages. The audience is not divided by age groups as they often are in Sunday school or church study groups.

For this reason, you must adjust your preaching style to a common level. Do not make the sermon so difficult that children and teenagers cannot understand. At the same time, do not make it so simple that adults lose interest.

CURRICULUM:

Sunday schools and church schools often have curriculum guides which give you the subject and a discussion of the lesson you will teach. This is usually not true for preaching. With the direction of the Lord, you must determine the type and content of your message.

PREPARING A SERMON

The basic steps in preparing a sermon are similar to those you learned in planning a lesson to teach. You should:

- Prepare yourself spiritually.
- Analyze the audience.
- Set objectives.

The basic structure of a sermon follows that of teaching a lesson. Your sermon should include:

- A title.
 - The introduction.
 - The body.
 - The application.
 - The conclusion.
- (Review Chapter Ten, "Lesson Planning").

Just as you do in teaching, you must gain and hold the attention of the audience. You must present the lesson in an orderly way. You must make life and ministry applications in the sermon and you must call for response to the revelation of God's Word.

TYPES OF SERMONS

From the study of Biblical sermons and the sermons of great preachers throughout Church history, three basic types of sermons have been identified:

TYPE ONE - TOPICAL SERMONS:

Topical sermons focus on specific topics such as spiritual fruit, spiritual warfare, spiritual gifts, etc.

How To Plan A Topical Sermon:

1. Determine the general topic of the sermon. For example, "prayer" may be the topic you select.
2. Determine the specific theme: On what theme of prayer will you preach? Here are some possibilities:

- | | |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| -The Necessity of Prayer | -Intercessory Prayer |
| -The Value of Prayer | -Family Prayer |
| -The Times for Prayer | -Hindrances to Prayer |
| -The Power of Prayer | -Bible Prayers |
| -The Purpose of Prayer | -Practical Prayer |
| -The Method of Prayer | -Attitudes in Prayer |
| -The Results of Prayer | -Places to Pray |
| -The Conditions of Prayer | -Worship through Prayer |
| -The Problems of Prayer | -Posture in Prayer |
| -Praying in the Spirit | -The Privilege of Prayer |
| -Perseverance in Prayer | -Faith and Prayer |
| -The Preeminence of Prayer | -The Scope of Prayer |
| -Answers to Prayer | |

You must determine a specific theme for your sermon. You cannot cover every aspect of a topic because, as you see in this example, there are many themes to most Biblical topics. The theme you select will become the title of your sermon. For example, you may choose to speak on "Hindrances To Prayer".

3. Research everything the Bible has to say on the theme you have selected. If you have access to Bible research materials such as concordances, commentaries, and word study books, use these in your study also.
4. Develop the outline following the simple four-section structure you learned in Chapter Ten on lesson planning:

- Introduction
- Body
- Application
- Conclusion

An Example Of A Topical Sermon:

Using the example theme "Hindrances To Prayer", your rough outline might look like the following:

Title: HINDRANCES TO PRAYER

Introduction: Focus on a problem most people have: Unanswered prayer and the question as to why prayers are unanswered. This will gain attention as most everyone has experienced this problem.

Body: Discuss the hindrances to prayer identified in God's Word:

- Wrong motives and requests: James 4:2-3
- Sin of any kind: Isaiah 59:1-2
- Idols in the heart: Ezekiel 14:1-3
- An unforgiving spirit: Mark 11:25
- Selfishness: Proverbs 21:13
- Wrong treatment of marriage partner: I Peter 3:7
- Self-righteousness: Luke 18:10-14
- Unbelief: James 1:6-7
- Not abiding in Christ and His Word: John 15:7

Application:

- I. Explain how unanswered prayer hinders:
 - A. Family life.
 - B. Our personal spiritual development.
 - C. Our ministry.
- II. Ask the audience to apply these truths individually:
 - A. Which hindrances are blocking my prayers?

Conclusion:

- I. Summarize the hindrances of prayer discussed.
- II. Call for confession and repentance of those things which have hindered prayer.

TYPE TWO - TEXTUAL SERMONS:

In textual preaching, a key Biblical passage forms the central truth or text of the lesson. The remainder of the message is built on this one central truth.

How To Plan A Textual Sermon:

1. Select the text.
2. Develop a sermon title from the text.
3. Study the text in detail. Then study other Scriptural passages that relate to the text you have selected. If you have access to Bible research materials such as concordances, commentaries, and word study books, use these to further research the text.
4. Develop the outline following the simple four-section structure you learned in Chapter Ten on lesson planning:

- Introduction
- Body
- Application
- Conclusion

An Example Of A Textual Sermon:

Peter's sermon in Acts 2:14-36 is a good example of this. If Peter had a title for the sermon, it may have been...THIS IS THAT

Introduction: Peter opened the message with reference to a Scripture text:

No, this is what was spoken by the prophet Joel:

“In the last days, God says,
I will pour out my Spirit on all people.
Your sons and daughters will prophesy, your young men will see visions,
your old men will dream dreams.

Even on my servants, both men and women,
I will pour out my Spirit in those days,
and they will prophesy. (Acts 2:16-18)

This introduction gained the attention of the audience because they were watching the fulfillment of this passage right before their eyes!

Body: The body of Peter's sermon focused on the text.

- I. He presented the historical background of the passage which was that day being fulfilled.
- II. He showed how it related to Israel's history and to Jesus Christ.

Application: He made personal application...

The promise is for you and your children and for all who are far off—for all whom the Lord our God will call.” (Acts 2:39)

Conclusion: He called for response...

Peter replied, “Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. And you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 2:38)

And the audience responded...

Those who accepted his message were baptized, and about three thousand were added to their number that day. (Acts 2:41)

TYPE THREE - EXPOSITORY SERMONS:

"Expository" is the title given to a method of preaching which focuses on a Scriptural passage and explains it in detail, verse by verse. The word "expository" means "to take apart and examine the parts of a whole."

Expository is a more detailed type of preaching than topical or textual. It can focus on a specific subject or passage of Scripture, explaining it in detail, verse by verse and word by word. It can also focus on a book of the Bible, studying the book in detail, chapter by chapter, then verse by verse, and even discussing in depth the meaning of key words. Expository preaching can focus on a biography, studying verse by verse all that is recorded regarding a selected Biblical character.

Because expository preaching is so detailed, it often results in a series of messages. It is not possible to discuss in detail everything about a Bible passage, book, or personality in one sermon. Each sermon in the series should relate to the others. When you begin each sermon you should show how it relates to those which have preceded it. You can do this by briefly summarizing the previous messages and explaining how they relate to the one you are presenting.

Although each sermon in a series should relate to the others, each sermon should also be complete in itself. Everyone in the audience may not be present for every sermon in the series. They should be able to understand each sermon without having heard the others.

How To Plan An Expository Sermon:

1. Select the text, subject, Bible character, or book on which you plan to focus your message or series of messages.
2. Study in detail everything the Bible teaches on the text, subject, Bible character or book. If you have access to Bible research materials such as concordances, commentaries, and word study books, use these for further research.
3. Determine if your subject can be covered in a single expository sermon or if it will require a series of sermons.
4. Develop a title and text for each message in the series.
5. Develop an outline for each message in the series. Follow the simple four-section structure for each message:
 - Introduction
 - Body
 - Application
 - Conclusion

An Example Of An Expository Sermon:

Here is an example of an outline for an expository sermon:

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Here are some general guidelines that will help you plan any type of sermon.

SELECTING A TEXT:

The word "text" came from a Greek word which means "woven or spun". The text should be that from which the message is woven or from which it "spins off". It should be the basis of the sermon.

Using a text from God's Word as the basis of a sermon gives the preacher authority in his message. He is saying "Thus saith the Lord" because he is speaking God's Word. He can do so with boldness and authority. The text keeps a message Biblical and it gains the confidence of the audience by assuring them that the preacher is proclaiming God's Word and not his own opinions.

Here are some guidelines for selecting a text from God's Word:

1. Pray for guidance from the Lord.
2. Study God's Word regularly. Texts and subjects for ministry will result from your study. Keep a notebook of texts and subject ideas as you discover them in your personal study. Use these later for planning sermons.
3. Consider the spiritual needs of the audience to which you plan to minister. For example, an audience of ministers do not normally need a text and sermon on salvation. (Remember what you learned about audience analysis in Chapter Eight).
4. Before you preach on a text, be certain you understand it so you will not create confusion in the minds of your listeners.
5. Consider the entire revelation of God's truth. Do not preach only on your favorite texts or subjects people enjoy hearing. "ALL" Scripture is given by inspiration of God and profitable.

INTERPRETING THE TEXT:

After you have selected a text, study all the Bible teaches about it. If you have various translations of the Bible, study these for further understanding. If you have Bible commentaries, read what others have said about the text. These study methods will help you understand or "interpret" the text properly.

Here are some basic rules of interpreting God's Word which should be used as you study the text:

The Rule Of Divine Authority: The Bible is the final authority. Every portion of the Scripture is inspired by God.

The Rule Of Literal Interpretation: The Bible means exactly what it says and should be interpreted literally unless the context indicates otherwise. Sometimes there are symbols and parables used in the Bible to illustrate truths, but these are clearly indicated in the context of Scripture.

The Rule Of Contextual Consideration: Every verse should be studied in relation to its context. Study what precedes and follows the text. Many false doctrines have been created by taking verses out of context. To study a passage in its context ask yourself:

- Who is speaking or writing?
- What is being said?
- To whom is it being said?
- Why is it said?
- When was it said?

The Rule Of First Mention: The first time a word, phrase, object, or incident is mentioned in the Bible, it often gives a key to its meaning anywhere else in the Bible.

For example, in Genesis 3 there is the first mention of "fig leaves". Here, Adam used fig leaves to try to cover his own sin and nakedness by his own efforts. Fig leaves speak of self-righteousness, rejection of God, and an attempt to justify one's self before God.

This is why Jesus cursed the tree with leaves but no fruit in Matthew 21 and Mark 11 and 13. To understand this act, we recall the law of first mention and go back to Genesis 3. Fig leaves represented the self-righteous nation of Israel who had rejected Jesus and not brought forth the true fruits of repentance.

The Rule Of Repetition: When something is repeated in Scripture it is for the purpose of emphasis. It means that this truth is of such special importance that it needs to be repeated.

The Rule Of Cumulative Revelation: The full truth of God's Word on any subject must not be gathered from an isolated passage. The cumulative [total] revelation of all the Bible says regarding a truth must be considered. This means you must accumulate all the Bible teaches on a certain subject. This is why the rule is called the rule of "cumulative" revelation. You cannot base a doctrine on a few isolated verses about a subject.

GATHERING SERMON MATERIAL:

Once you have selected a text, you must gather material for the sermon. Asking these questions will help you do this:

1. What does the Bible teach about this subject? The most important objective is to communicate what God has revealed in His Word concerning the subject. This should compose the major part of your message.
2. What have I observed in life and ministry that concerns this subject? What examples in life and ministry relate to the subject? How have you seen the truths of the Word demonstrated in real life? You can use these examples for illustration and application in the message.
3. What have I read concerning this subject? If you have access to Bible reference materials, reading and research of the works of Bible scholars will assist you in gathering material for the sermon.

4. Who do I know that has knowledge on this subject? Is there someone who has had an experience which relates to this text? Is there someone you know who has studied extensively on the subject? Consult them as part of your preparation for preaching on this subject.

THE FINAL OBJECTIVE

This chapter concludes this course on "Teaching Tactics". But in reality, you have only begun because you must keep on preaching and teaching until the final objective is met:

He is the one we proclaim, admonishing and teaching everyone with all wisdom, so that we may present everyone fully mature in Christ.
(Colossians 1:28)

No longer will they teach their neighbor, or say to one another, 'Know the Lord,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest.
(Hebrews 8:11)

PREACH TO GET RESULTS

By Charles G. Finney

What is your motive when you preach? If you are aiming at increasing your own popularity-- then, of course, your preaching will be suited for that purpose, and not to convert souls to Christ!

Do you avoid preaching doctrines that are offensive to the carnal mind? Are you concerned your hearers might say to you -- as they said to Christ -- "This is a hard saying. Who can hear it?" Do you avoid making distinct points? Do you fear disturbing the consciences of your hearers, lest they become alarmed about their souls?

What about teaching techniques? Do you use good illustrations? Do you find interesting ways to repeat important statements? Do you emphasize the main points by your choice of words and by the tone of your voice? These devices will help your people to remember what you say!

Do you strive to appeal mainly to the emotions of your hearers? You must strive to reach their consciences! Do you testify from your own personal experience of the power of the gospel? This will produce the conviction upon your hearers that you have something which they need.

Are you fearful about awakening in your hearers uncomfortable memories by reminding them of their unrepented sins? The Devil would have you denounce sin in general, but make no reference to the specific sins of your present audience! Don't yield to the Devil!

Weak preachers refrain from inviting their hearers to obey the truth here and now. But delayed obedience is disobedience! Be strong enough to present God's command and to gently press for immediate response. Expect them to commit themselves. Expect them to give their hearts to God, right on the spot! Do you instead leave the impression that they are expected to go away in their sins, and to consider the matter at their convenience? Is this the best way to preach for results?

Do you tell your people they are unable to obey? That they must wait for God to change them? Change will come after they commit their hearts and lives to Jesus! Lead them to accept Him now! It is good to preach that salvation is a gift from God. But be sure to point out that the sinners who are listening to you are condemned! They are lost! In this way they will understand what grace and salvation mean, and will see how much they need it! Preach the gospel as a remedy, but do not conceal or ignore the disease of the sinner which results in eternal death -- in Hell!

ANSWERS TO SELF-TESTS

CHAPTER ONE:

1. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost:

Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. (Matthew 28:19-20)

2. Matthew 28:18-19
3. The word "teach" means to instruct, show, demonstrate, inform, impart knowledge, train, and guide the studies of another. A "teacher" is one who teaches. "Teaching" is the act of instructing and training others.
4. We need teachers because they help explain God's Word to unbelievers [evangelism] and believers [discipleship]. Without teachers, people are like sheep without a shepherd.
5. The leadership position of "teacher" is one who leads and guides the church in addition to teaching. One with the speaking gift of teaching teaches, but does not hold a leadership position in the church.
6. The statement is true.
7. We are to teach all nations and faithful men who are able to teach others.
8. The two main objectives of teaching are evangelism and discipleship.
9. The three Biblical warnings discussed in this chapter are:
 - Teaching must be based on God's Word, not the doctrines of men.
 - Teachers must live what they teach.
 - There will be false teachers.

CHAPTER TWO:

1. The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto Him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with Him. (John 3:2)

9. John 20:21.
10. As the Father sent Jesus, so are we sent to accomplish similar purposes. His mission is our mission.

CHAPTER THREE:

1. And as ye go, preach, saying, The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.

Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give. (Matthew 10:7-8)
2. The basic message of Jesus was all things pertaining to the Kingdom of God. This included how to enter the Kingdom [evangelism] and how to live as part of God's Kingdom [discipleship].
3. I Corinthians 15:1-4
4. The statement is True.
5. Power.
6. God's Word, the Holy Bible.

CHAPTER FOUR:

among the people. (Matthew 9:35)

- 2-11. Compare your answers for these questions to the discussion of each subject in Chapter Five of this manual.

CHAPTER SIX:

1. And when He was come into His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works? (Matthew 13:54)
- 2-11. Compare your answers for these questions to the discussion of each subject in Chapter Six of this manual.

CHAPTER SEVEN:

1. And He took a child, and set him in the midst of them: and when He had taken him in His arms, He said unto them,

Whosoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth Me: and whosoever shall receive Me, receiveth not Me, but Him that sent Me. (Mark 9:36-37)
2. A teaching aid is something that aids you in teaching a lesson. It may be an activity which helps students understand a certain Biblical truth. It may also be an object which can be seen, heard, or touched [an audio-visual aid].
3. The word "audio" refers to hearing. The word "visual" refers to seeing. An "audio-visual aid" is something that can be seen and/or heard and which aids in learning.
4. Teaching aids are important because seeing, hearing, and doing are the main ways we learn.
5. He used simple objects from the environment.

CHAPTER EIGHT:

1. But Jesus did not commit Himself unto them, because He knew all men. And needed not that any should testify of man: for He knew what was in man. (John 2:24-25)
2. An "audience" is the group of people you will teach. To "analyze" something is to study it in detail, to carefully examine its characteristics, to study the parts of a whole. To analyze an audience means to carefully study the characteristics of a group of people you will teach.

3. Analyzing an audience is important because learning is affected by many factors such as language, education, culture, physical abilities, spiritual maturity, sex, marital status, social and economic level, personal needs, and age. If you do not analyze your audience you may be teaching above or below their educational and spiritual maturity levels. You may not use a language they understand. You may not relate your lessons to their social and economic level and to their personal needs.
4. Compare your summary to the discussion in Chapter Eight.
5. Compare your summary to that given for the age group you selected to write about.

CHAPTER NINE:

1. Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom: that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus. (Colossians 1:28)

3.
 - They direct the teacher's prayers, plans, teaching, and learning activities towards a specific goal.
 - They can be used to measure the effectiveness of teaching.
 - They improve your teaching.
 - They help students become doers of the Word instead of only hearers.
4. General objectives are goals that apply to your teaching in general. They are objectives students should achieve over a period of time. Specific objectives differ from lesson to lesson. They are objectives specifically for an individual lesson.
5. Objective B is correct. It is stated in terms of observable student behavior.
6. The final goal of Biblical teaching is stated in Colossians 1:28.

subject] which instructs others in a formal manner.

3. Compare your summary to the discussion in Chapter Fifteen.
4.
 - Preachers must live what they preach.
 - If you are specifically called preach, it is not an option.
 - Preaching must be based on God's Word.
 - Motives must be right.
5. Because the demonstration of God's power confirms the preaching of His Word.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN:

1. Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. (II Timothy 4:2)
2. The basic differences between preaching and teaching are:
 - The methods used in preaching often differ from those in teaching. Methods which call for audience participation are not commonly used because preaching usually involves a larger audience.
 - The style of delivery differs in preaching because the audience usually includes all ages. The style of delivery must be adjusted to a common level that can be understood by children, youth, and adults.
 - You usually do not have printed curriculum to guide as is often the case in Sunday school or church schools. With the direction of the Lord, you must determine the type and content of your message.
3. Basic steps for planning a sermon are like those of teaching. They include the following:
 - Prepare yourself spiritually.
 - Analyze the audience.
 - Set objectives.
 - Outline the message using the basic structure which includes an introduction, the body of the message, application, and the conclusion.
4. Topical preaching focuses on specific topics such as spiritual fruit, spiritual warfare, spiritual gifts, etc. You select a particular theme on one of these topics and develop it in the sermon.
5. In textual preaching, a key Biblical passage forms the central truth or text of the lesson. The remainder of the message is built on this one central truth.

6. Expository preaching is a more detailed type of preaching than topical or textual. It can focus on a specific subject or passage of Scripture, a book of the Bible, or a Bible character. It explains in detail all that is taught, verse by verse, and even word by word.
